NEW HOME OF THE BUREAU OF AMERICAN REPUBLICS IS DEDICATED TODAY BY DISTINGUISHED CITIZENS AND STATESMEN

SOLEMN CEREMONIES MARK LAUNCHING OF INSTITUTION

ADDRESS OF ROOT A GREAT FEATURE

FOUNDER OF IDEA TALKS OF BUREAU'S FUNCTIONS

THE PRESIDENT ALSO SPEAKS

Andrew Carnegie, Donor of $750,000 to Institution and Ambassador Nabuco on Program

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—The greater portion of the western hemisphere was officially represented today at the laying of the cornerstone of the new monument to Secretary Root's Pan-American idea, the future home of the international bureau of American republics. President Roosevelt and Secretary Root were spokesmen for the interests of the United States. Ambassador Nabuco of Brazil, dean of the Latin-American diplomatic corps, spoke for the other countries, and Andrew Carnegie, who donated $750,000 to the institution, delivered an address. Cardinal Gibbons delivered the invocation and Bishop Cranston of the Methodist church delivered the benediction.

The exercises began at 3 p. m., with a short speech by Director of the Bureau John Barrett, who presented Secretary Root. The building, which will cost a million dollars, will embody the characteristics of Latin-American architecture. The most striking feature will be a large patio, roofed with glass, where will be gathered tropical and other plants. It will also contain a statue of Root.

Speech of Secretary Root.

The address of Secretary Root, who is regarded as the founder of teh institution, follows:

Mr. President and Gentlemen:

We are here to lay the corner stone of the building which is to be the home of the International Union of American Republics.

The wise liberality of the congress of the United States has provided the means for the purchase of this tract of land—five acres in extent—near the White house and the great executive departments, bounded on every side by public streets and facing to the east and south upon public

BECKER DECLARES HE'S A CANDIDATE

FLYING-MACHINE MAYOR WILL SEEK GOVERNORSHIP

THERE WILL BE NO "BARL"

Unique Campaign Hinted at by Milwaukee's Spectacular Actor-Politician

Ex-Mayor Becker, of Milwaukee, today announces his candidacy for the republican gubernatorial nomination. He does not hesitate to say, however, that he does not seek the nomination as a strict party candidate, and he emphatically declares that there will be no "barl." He declares that orthodox political methods will form no part of his campaign, says he will represent no clique, faction or party, endorses President Roosevelt, appeals to the people as men, not partisans and promises a more definite statement of his position in the near future. In part his statement is as follows:

"To the People of Wisconsin:

"I shall be a candidate for governor before the September primaries, and shall seek such nomination upon the ticket of the republican party, the political party of my choice, and which has three times honored me. Nevertheless I want it distinctly understood that I am not a fanatical party man and that I still consider political parties of less importance than they were in the days of Lincoln, when sectional issues threatened to rend the union.

"This statement to the people is intended principally to set at rest any doubt or uncertainty as to my intentions. I want everyone to know that I will be in the field; and I want to assure the voters in a general way that I shall be the people's candidate (on a party ticket), primed with a knowledge of the real demands, the real necessities, of the taxpayers of the state, and prepared to meet them.

"A word to the professional or amateur political booster: If it should appear to you that this announcement presents possibilities for 'easy money' let me disabuse your mind by saying that there will be no barrel. I do not want an office that must be bought with money. It is too degrading and out of harmony with the times. But if any other man wants the office that way, let him try to get it. He will be exposed and I will expose him. The 'interests' will no doubt be in the field, and so will the factions, but not in my regiment as such or following the flag of good government which I shall carry and attempt to plant at the capitol.

"Therefore, to any who may be impelled to join my standard for the money they may imagine there would be in it, let me anticipate and solemnly affirm that they will starve to death on what they will get from me. I shall depend largely upon my record as a public official in Milwaukee and my ability to convince the people of the state that I am worthy to secure an election to this high office.

"In due time I shall issue a statement—not the customary cut and dried 'platform'—of my idea of what the people should expect, and what I am prepared to give, with their help, in the office of governor of Wisconsin."

"Yours truly,
"SHERBURN M. BECKER."

GOV'T CONTAINS NO MENACE

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—In a speech to a number of members of the National Prosperity Association of St. Louis, who called at the White house today, Roosevelt expressed the utmost confidence in the return of good times.

Incidentally he preached to them a little sermon on good government. He said the policy of the administration contains no more menace to business than the legislation already enacted.

VIROQUA MAYOR RESCUES AGENT

VERNON EXECUTIVE TURNED HERO SUNDAY

FITZSIMMONS'S BOAT TIPS

And Unable to Swim a Stroke the Night Agent of the Burlington Was Going Down Last Time

Mayor Frank Chase of Viroqua was the zero of a timely rescue at Stoddard yesterday when Harry Fitzsimmons, the night agent of the Burlington at Stoddard overturned a boat in Coon Valley slough. Had it not been for Mr. Chase's presence of mind he would have been drowned.

Mayor Chase and family together with Albert Lindeman and family were returning from a launch ride in the river and had just landed when Mayor Chase noticed Fitzsimmons struggling in the river. Hurriedly pushing a skiff that was up on the bank into the river and with but one oar, he made his way out to the struggling man and threw him the oar which he caught as he was going down for the last time. In a few moments Mr. Chase had him in the boat and after an hour he had recovered enough to be taken to his home.

Had it not been for Mayor Chase the man would have drowned as he was unable to swim a stroke.

WISKERCHEIN CASE OVER SAWDUST HILL

Circuit court today is trying the suit of Ed Wiskerchein vs. Abel Moore of Onalaska, envolving the possession of a hill of sawdust. Wiskerchein bought the sawdust from the Nichols Lumber company, which later sold the land containing the sawdust to Moore. Moore then refused to alow Wiskerchein to remove the sawdust.

ANTI-BETTING UP TO PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—The house today agreed to the senate amendments to the anti-betting bill, which now requires only the president's signature to become a law. It is designed to put an end to gambling on race tracks within the district of Columbia.

WELCOME EVANS

SALT LAKE CITY, May 11.—City officials have left here for Ogden to greet Admiral Evans when he reaches there. Two thousand met the Evans train at Reno, Nev., today.

Evans waived his hand and bowed to the crowd. He recognized Martin Guilbert, who was with him 25 years ago, on the Yorktown.

MRS. ROBERTS EXPIRES.

Mrs. Bessie V. Roberts, residing on South Third street, was taken with a paralytic stroke Sunday afternoon and died at the La Crosse hospital an hour later. The funeral services were held in the parlors of Fessler & Dahl's establishment this morning, Rev. Lowe presiding. The remains were shipped to Ottumwa, Ia., where the interment will be made.

LITTLE MURIAL WAKEFIELD DIES

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER OF WEST SALEM PHYSICIAN

FUNERAL THERE, BURIAL HERE

Body Will Arrive in La Crosse at 10:45—Early Train Will Take Friends to West Salem

Murial Wakefield, 8 year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Pern Wakefield of West Salem, died at 1 o'clock Sunday morning of spinal meningitis, after an illness of two weeks.

The funeral will be held in the family residence at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, and the body will be brought to this city on the C., M. & St. P. train, leaving West Salem at 10:19 a. m. and arriving at La Crosse at 10:45 a. m. There will be a short burial service at Oak Grove cemetery, where the remains will be laid beside those of Dr. Wakefield's parents. Rev. McKee will deliver the funeral address.

It is announced that friends of the family residing here can get a Northwestern train for West Salem at 7:55 a. m., arriving in West Salem in time to attend the funeral there and return with the funeral party to La Crosse.

HE THREATENS OUR NAUGHTY PRESIDENT

NEW YORK, May 11.—Denouncing President Roosevelt as a demagogue, James W. Van Cleve, of St. Louis, president of the National Manufacturers' association, today threatened a bolt of 11,000 republican manufacturers from the party ticket in the campaign should the party sanction the president's policy towards labor. Roosevelt's advocacy of the Hepburn amendment to the Sherman anti-trust law, and the injunction law, was described as the "cheapest kind of demagogy." Van Cleve said so many messages of protest against these bills have been sent the president that his trip to Pine Knot was to think the matter over. Van Cleave described Gompers as a "prairie wolf with hydrophobia," and he said the labor bills pending before congress were intended as "sop to this wolf." Any candidate who sanctioned this labor program, the speaker said, will be bolted by the manufacturers.

POSTPONE TEACHERS' MEETING.

On account of the La Crosse, Viroqua and Sparta declamatory contest coming off tomorrow night, the regular teachers' meeting will be postponed until Friday.

Rev. Henry Faville, W. E. Barber and Miss Lena Hideman will read papers and a reception will be held at which tea will be served at 7:45. The meeting will open at 8:15.

"GUNBOAT" WENDS WAY DOWN RIVER

MOTORBOAT CLUB'S PROTEST IS EFFECTIVE

DEN OF VICE DISAPPEARS

First Announcement of Probable Action Causes Them to Anchor Off Bank Then Leave Vicinity

The "Gunboat," which came to La Crosse from St. Paul, evidently with the intention of supplying to the sinning element what the mayor had removed, has folded it's tent like the circus and noisily pulled away.

The floating palace of evil deeds was moored to the Minnesota shore last week, and all went well until the Motorboat club on Friday evening entered protest and directed it's efforts to ousting the objectionable visitor. This night members boating in the neighborhood noticed that the captains of the "gunboat" in anticipation of troube had pulled their buoyant Sodom from the bank and were anchored some distance from shore. This, however, would not protect them as the Minnesota authorities have jurisdiction to the center of the river.

Evidently the rush expected was not experienced, for after a few more dismal trips to the levee and back, the official launch steamed back to the "helldiver" and this morning with the first streaks of dawn puffed its tedious way down the river to greener and less moral fields, and the beautiful father of waters in this vicinity is now in its customary tranquil calm.

WINONA AND LAX REDMEN PLAN A BIG JOINT PICNIC

There will be a joint picnic of the Winona and La Crosse Redmen lodges sometime in August, if plans now under consideration materialize as expected. It is planned that each lodge shall leave its city on a fleet of motor boats, the two fleets meeting somewhere between La Crosse and Winona.

The picnic will be a feature of the holding of the great councils of Minnesota and Wisconsin, at Winona and La Crosse respectively, during the same week in August.

Information as to the plans came to The Tribune today through W. E. Cowles, of Rochester, Minn., past grand representative of the Minnesota branch of the order, who has been in La Crosse for a few days as the guest of Dr. E. J. Whipple, the Rochester chiropractor, who is visiting here. Mr. Cowles says W. A. S. Bird, national great incohone of Kansas, will attend the great council.

LA PORTE OFFERS REWARD FOR FIEND

CITY COUNCIL WILL PAY $5,000 FOR MRS. GUNNESS

ONE VICTIM STRUGGLED

Lock of Curly Hair in Victim's Hand May Implicate Lamphere Further

One Who Escaped.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Geo. Anderson, of Tarkio, Mo., one of the few men who in answer to the matrimonial ads went to the Gunness home at La Porte and lived to tell about it, arrived here today on his way to La Porte. He believes a chance awakening in the night saved him from murder at the hands of Mrs. Gunness. Two years ago he visited the woman in answer to her ad, posing as a wealthy farmer.

Mrs. Gunness asked him how much money he had and he admitted he had little. She was incensed, he says, but told him to stay at the house all night. During the night, he said, he was awakened and found the woman bending over his bed. He cried out in surprise, and she fled hastily. Anderson stayed awake all night and departed the next day.

"I believe the woman is still alive," he said. "I recall now she acted strangely and eyed me with a pitiful look."

LA PORTE, May 11.—The city council tonight will offer $5,000 reward for the capture of Mrs. Belle Gunness, or any of her accomplices. This resolution will be passed in spite of the fact that the Gunness farm is outside of the city limits. The council also will try to bring the city and county officials together.

The progress of the investigation at the present is being impeded by a political war between Mayor Darrow, Chief of Police Cochran and State's Attorney Smith.

A Struggle; a Clue

Evidence that Andrew Helgaline, one of the victims of Mrs. Gunness' murder passion, had a terrible struggle with his slayer before he died, was found today. Dr. J. H. W. Meyer reported to the coroner that he found in Helgaline's clenched right hand several brown curly hairs. The fingers of this hand had been cut off at the knuckles, showing that an effort had been made to take the hairs out before the body was buried. Whether these hairs were Mrs. Gunness' or Ray Lamphere's is not known. Lamphere's hair is curly and dark brown.

Mrs. Gunness Bought Oil

J. S. Minnick, a grocer, declares Mrs. Gunness and Lamphere met in his store on the afternoon before the house was burned. Mrs. Gunness bought some coal oil and Lamphere bought tobacco. Minnick declares the woman's eyes were red as if she had been crying. Lamphere didn't speak to her.

THE WOODMEN OF TREMPEALEAU HAVE A GREAT NEW HALL

TREMPEALEAU, Wis., May 11.—(Special.)—The Modern Woodmen of this city have so enlarged their lodge rooms as to give them the largest dancing hall in western Wisconsin. When completed this great lodge room will comprise a space of 38 by 96 feet, will have a cost an additional $800 and will be one of the most attractive to be found anywhere in villages of this size.

The Woodmen are a leading organization in Trempealeau, their large membership, and the good standing of members, lending them a wide influence in the community. The high officers of the lodge at present are as follows:

Dell Hayter, V. C.
F. C. Ford, clerk.
Harry Ware, W. A.

NIGHT IN JAIL SHAKES RESOLVE

BELLEVILLE, Ill., May 11.—One night in pail was enough for Ewald Siebert, Bellevilie's $60,000 bachelor. Rather than pay a fine of $10 and costs assessed on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, Siebert, who is 60 years old, declared he would work it out in the county workhouse. After spending last night in a cell he decided to pay the fine.

SOCIALISTS WAR JARS CONVENTION

PERSONAL ABUSE MARKS PROCEEDINGS THERE TODAY

"GAG RULE" IS CHARGED

LEADERS SAID TO BE "BOOSTED BY "CAPITALISTIC PRESS"

NOT TAIL TO MINERS' KITE

Propositions to Tack Socialists on are Revoked, but Friendly Messages are Sent

CHICAGO, May 11.—Conservatism won its first victory in the socialist national convention today by the scant majority of one vote. Incidentally, the proposition to tack the national socialist movement as a tail to the kite of the Western Federation of Miners was defeated following a session in which personalities were freely indulged in.

After the smoke of this battle had cleared away the delegates went into another clash on a question of rules, which eclipsed the first and resulted in a motion being made, but not considered, that delegate Edwin W. Davis, of Pennsylvania, be excluded from the convention because they were "advertised by the capitalistic press." Cries of "gag rule," "This is not Russia," etc., greeted the motion.

The conservatives won the fight on the proposition to send a congratulatory message to the Western Federation, it being referred to the committee on resolutions by a vote of 94 to 93. It was admitted on all sides that this means the nomination of Debs and the adoption of a conservative platform, as well as the carrying through of the original program of the leaders.

A proposition to compel candidates for president and vice president to poll a two-thirds vote in order to be nominated was finally defeated, and the majority rule was adopted, after a sensational debate during which Delegate Davis criticised the leaders saying, "I demand that all delegates be heard. I have no personal feeling here, but think the obscure should have just as much to say as those who have the capitalistic press to advertise them." He got no further before he was howled down.

Hot Fight Ensues.

Delegate William Simons, editor of the Chicago Daily Socialist, led the fight to either exclude Davis or compel him to apologize, but Chairman John F. Carey, by vigorous use of the gavel, managed to inform the delegates he wouldn't entertain the motion. Goebel, of New York, added to the clamor of those demanding recognition of the chair, be denounc-

Pink Hawley's bunch yesterday afternoon trimmed up Bubser's crowd to the tune of 8 to 6. The attendance at the Sunday game was almost as large as at the opening game and those persent were well pleased with the exhibition. The features of the game were the hard hitting of Catcher Harms and the splendid fielding of Tracey. The Fond du Lac sluggers came to the grounds, 15 strong and turned out for practice. During the preliminary tossing the Oshkosh bunch looked too many for La Crosse, as they put up some grandstand work, and Pink's crowd looked rather weary from taking three games straight without having to fight for them.

"Business" Starts.

The visitors opened the game with a goose egg and no hits and the home team followed their example. In the second inning Bubser's bunch secured one hit, but no runs, while La Crosse got two runs and one hit. The heavy batting began in the sixth when Oshkosh ran in five scores and knocked Eberle out of the box. Baillies was put in his place and held the visitors down to only one scratch hit. Scanlon, the Oshkosh pitcher, stuck out the whole nine innings and proved half a puzzle to the home batters, as they managed to get only eight hits.

Johnson, the first batter for the visitors, fanned the air three times and Fleming, the next man up, batted a nice one into Graves' hands, where it was safe. Dolan came to bat and sent another to Graves, retiring the side. Graves was the first home player up and he sent a nice one to Groh, who held it. Duchien reached first on a safe single, but was caught out trying to steal a bag. Bues slugged for a single, but died on first, as Heppel failed to make a hit. Rainey knocked a roller to Becker who shipped it to first, putting the Oshkosh first baseman out. Schuneck went out from pitcher to first, and Gragion netted a safe single. Groh batted a nice one into Tracey's hands and Gragion died on second.

Becker got his base on balls and was advanced to third on a two bagger into right field by Tracey. Love went out from second base ti first, and Harms hit the ball in the face for one of his famous two base hits, but was caught stealing second. Eberle stepped up to bat and sent a pretty one to second base.

No Scores in Third

Neither side got a hit or run in the third inning, although Scanlon took first on balls. In the fourth Doland started things by batting a hot one into right field and stealing second and third on a wild throw. Rainey secured a hit and stole second. Schuneck went out from pitcher to first and Gragion landed on the ball for a single, but died on second. Groh flew out to first base and Warren took first on balls. Scanlon batted one to Heppelfi retiring the side.

Heppel fouled out to Warren and Becker went out from short to first. Tracey secured a hit into right field and stole a few bases while he was about it. Love got to first on balls and stole second. Harms was next up to bat, but went out from pitcher to first. Tracey scored.

Oshkosh's Batting Streak.

Oshkosh struck a batting streak in the sixth and fell on Eberle, knocking him all over the field. Schuneck led off with a safe one into right field, and Gragion landed on first with four balls. Groh secured a two base hit into center field, bringing in Schuneck and Gragion. He was caught out on third. Warren landed on the ball for a single, advanced to second and third and was forced in. Scanlon got a safe hit and Johnson flew out to Bues. Fleming took his base on balls and Dolan did the same. Rainey slugged out an outfield hit, bringing in Fleming. Schuneck went out on first after the team had batted once around. The Oshkosh went out in quick order in the sixth, only two men reaching first. Baillies was put in the box for the home team in the seventh and held the visitors down to one scratch hit.

Groh fanned the air three times, Warren followed his example and Scanlon went out from pitcher to first. La Crosse ran in one score in the seventh and two in the eighth. Baillies pitched good ball and the visitors were unable to solve him.

Bubser somewhat changed his line-up in the middle of the game, putting Barrett in at third base and shifting Gragion from second base to third. Fleming came in from right field, and took his place on second.

La Crosse, 9; Fond du Lac, 6

It is no use for Fond du Lac to entertain any hopes of winning a game from La Crosse from the showing made Saturday. The result of the game was a score of 9 to 6 in favor of the home team, but it might have been vice versa if Piddington, the Fond du Lac pitcher, had the proper support. La Crosse opened strong and batted once around in the first inning, runnig in six scores. Manager Lynch shifted the lineup to give Burgoise a tryout, taking Hartig out of left fieid and putting Zackert in at that position. Cavanaugh held down first base and Burgoise was put in at right field. After the batting streak in the first inning, no scoring was done until the fifth when La Crosse ra in two and Fond du Lac reached home for three. The Pinks ran in one more score in the sixth and this put an end to the scoring until the ninth, when the visitors threatened to tie the score by running in three points. A small but enthusiatsic crowd witnessed the struggle, 379 being the actual attendance. Piddington, the southpaw Fond du Lac pitcher, put up a gamey fight in the face of great odds and was greeted with applause every time he tsepped up to bat. Fond du Lac made a bunch of errors in the first, but after that braced up and put up a good game.

Carl Olson a Feature

One of the features of the game was Carl Olson, commonly known among the show people as the Prince of Sweden. Carl seemed to be very enthusiastic over the game. He managed to keep the grand stand in good humor with sundry, "phony" remarks and even the Fond du Lac players had to laugh at the slams which he batted out to them.

The visiting batters went out in quick order in the first inning. Graves started the ball rolling for La Crosse by slugging out a scorching twobagger. Duchien tsepped up to bat and wheedled the pitcher for a base on balls. Graves was put out from pitcher to third base, when Bues hit to Piddington. Heppel fouled out to Watson. Becker took his base on balls filling all the bags. Tracey batted out a roller to second and Bues and Duchien scored on an overthrow from Vogt to Cavanaugh. Love slashed out a hit to Vogt, stole second and got to third on a wild throw. Harms got to first on four balls. Flynn did his duty by meeting the leather for two bases, allowing Love and Harms to trot hime. Graves closed the inning by fanning out. This put an end to the scoring until the fifth inning, when Fond du Lac got credit for three runs. Cavanaugh broke the monotony by swatting the ball for a long fly to raves which the latter dropped after he had his paws on it. He stole second and went to third on a single by Zackert, scoring on an error by Love. Vogt followed with a safe hit and Zackert scored. Burgoise batted a roller to Bues, reaching first and advancing Vogt to second. Piddington soaked one out to center field, bringing in "Dutchy" and sending Piddington to second. Lynch batted one into Duchien's hands and retired the side. Nobody scored until the ninth when Fond du Lac ran in three scores and threatened to even things up. Cavanaugh, Zackert and Vogt each got a single, Cavanaugh and Zackert scoring on a hit by Burgoise and Vogt got to second. Vogt scored on a clip into the outfield and Lynch failed to reach first.

The Pinks ran in two tallies in the fifth and still another in the sixth. This ended the scoring for the home team.

TRAVIS TAYES GOLF FINALS

NEW YORK, May 11.—Walter J. Travis of Garden City, who has won international and national amateur golf honors, was the winner Saturday in the final round of thirty-six holes match play for the rPesident cup on the links of the Garden City Golf club. Travs defeated Chadwick E. Sawyer of the Midland Club, also of Garden City, by 9 and 7. For the first time since the tournament began, three days ago, there was sunshine, and consequently a big attendance.

BAILIES SAVES DAY WITH A NEW BALL

That Baillies, the La Crosse pitcher, who was put in in the sixth inning yesterday to save the game after Oshkosh brought in five runs, has a new ball and one "they can't touch," is a fact according to the old fans.

After Oshkosh started her terrible slaughter of Eberly, Baillies was put in the box and from then on everything was easy sailing for La Crosse, the Oshkosh bunch being able to score only one scratch hit. The secret of the whole thing is said to be that Baillies has a "raise ball." The ball is what it's name signifies. It is thrown underhand and goes along until a couple of feet from the plate when it shoots upward. The ball is one of the hardest kind to find.

Manager Hawley when asked concerning the new ball said that as far as he knew the story was true. "He's got something, but I don't know just exactly what it is. In my opinion Baillies yesterday showed the best form of any pitcher that has been out this spring. I consider him a "comer." Of course last year he was 'young' but he has steadied down considerably and will make one of the best in the league."

LA CROSSE HIGHS WIN BALL GAME

The La Crosse High school baseball team defeated the Winona high school team in a fast game at Winona Saturday by a score of 4 to 1.

The La Crosse team showed a complete reversal of form from last Saturday and played a good game throughout. The feature of the game was the pitching of Novak who only allowed Winona 3 hits. Schaldach played a good game at third scoring several putouts. The local boys touched up Nissen the Winona twirler for 7 safe hits. The game by innings:

The Comfort of Automobiling

Think of riding fifty miles to make a call and coming back without the slightest fatigue.

Your far-away friends practically become your next door neighbors—and you can give them the pleasure of frequent rides—with the aid of a Rambler.

You can spend your vacation in a Rambler and come back to work again with renewed health and a keener zest for business.

Rambler
Automobiles

I want to give you the names and addresses of Rambler owners who have driven their cars from 15,000 to 50,000 miles—and can tell you how little it costs to run a Rambler.

I want to show you why any man or woman can drive a Rambler—why the Rambler unit power plant increases power, reduces wear, and makes it the easiest car to care for.

I want to show you the tilting body on Model 31, and to demonstrate what it means to have every working part of your car easily accessible. May I?

"BOB" EVANS TITLE

Secretary of War Metcalf has announced that whatever is in his power he will do to secure recognition of the services of Robley D. Evans by urging his promotion to be vice admiral.

It will be a source of pleasure to the people of this country if Secretary Metcalf succeeds in his effort. "Fighting Bob" Evans has been a great naval fighter, and while others equally deserving of this high honor have not been thus exalted, the fact affords no argument against proper recognition of the services of one who is now retiring after the completion of the most wonderful performance in the naval history of the world.

That opposition to the advancement of the admiral has developed in one of the cliques of our cliquery navy, and has been carried into our equally cliquery congress, has had the effect to increase the popular desire to see the vice admiralship bestowed upon the old "sea dog," and open obstruction to the plan proposed by the secretary of war would meet with bitter condemnation. Men in the commercial life have their civil achievements to pinacle their careers, the lawyer has the fame of his intelligence and oratory, the legislator has the monument to his good laws and the substantial emoluments thereof. But our soldiers and sailors have the unknown grave or the sea weed shroud of the rolling deep, unless we knight them with official titles. It is little enough to do for men who have served with unusual destinction, fought unflinchingly, sailed intrepidly, to annex a one-syllable prefix to an official title.

FENCING WITH TAFT ISSUE.

The efforts of the Lancaster Teller, supplemented by those of the Milwaukee Free Press, to put Secretary Taft out of the race for the republican presidential nomination upon precedent, is not more interesting than the adroitness with which the latter newspaper—ever true to Senator La Follette—"touts" for the "dark horse" with cautious omission of every criticism which might embarrass it in the support of Taft should he be the nominee. The Free Press does not believe that, next to La Follette even, Taft is the most available man. It probably would prefer Hughes in the republican party, or Bryan in the democratic party. But it is party-bound, and it must not offend or prejudice the case of the party candidate, no matter who or what, so the full extent of its case against Mr. Taft is a suggestion—inferential—that he (Taft) cannot be elected. The Free Press is just like the average party newspaper in this particular, but its bound-and-gagged predicament is more noticeable because of the fact that, when it possibly can, it stands boldly for the things and men that most make for good government. We would like to see more of our really liberal and broad journals join the ranks of independent journalism, but not to drift too far from an entertaining subject, we submit the Free Press editorial:

"The Lancaster Teller is startled by the number of similarities between the presidential campaign of 1860 and 1908.

"Then the overshadowing figure of the situation, prior to the convention, was Seward; William H. Now he is Taft; William H.

"Seward was supposed to be certain of the nomination. Now Taft is.

"Seward hailed from the east. Taft hails from the east, although a little farther west than Seward did.

"The convention of 1860 was held in Chicago. The convention of 1908 is to be held in Chicago.

"Startling as these facts are there are others that make the two campaigns more closely alike. Lincoln was a western man who had a national reputation gained mainly by speeches he had made on the great questions of the day, in which he had advanced original ideas. La Follette is a western man who has acquired the same sort of reputation, and in the same way.

"Lincoln has served in the house of representatives. La Follette has served in the house of representatives.

"Seward went to the convention of 1860 with the largest number of votes, but among the delegates were a great many who felt that he could not be elected.

"The great editor, Horace Greeley, sat in the convention as an alternate from Oregon, his own state having refused to send him as a delegate. Greeley would not support Seward because he believed he could not be elected. (He might have had some other reasons, but this is the one he gave.)

"Seward was not nominated. Maybe Taft will not be. At any rate the argument that Greeley used against Seward will be the strongest that can be used against Taft, and to secure the nomination of La Follette.

"The Teller closes its parallel with the unqualified assertion, 'Taft cannot be elected.' This is the parallel of the editors."

In the grand stand Saturday a careless fan opened an unusually exuberant bottle of pop which proceeded to syphon itself in sticky profusion upon the raiment of the man in the seat below. The unfortunate expressed his views relative to the incident with a vigorous enthusiasm that left the offender speechless for the moment in bleak dismay. Finally recovering at the close of the third recurrence of the flood of resentment, he of the guyser pop-bottle in elaborate courtesy—for he proved a Chesterfieldian savant—urged upon his victim the impossibility of avoiding the catastrophy at this late date, but concluded, "It gives me delight to afford you whatever slight reparation lies within my humble power, and I beg you to accept this evidence of my desire to make restitution." Then he reached into his vest pocket and handed the soused and unhappy victim of his carelessness a rain check.

Mr. Gelatt: "I have never yet known a newspaper that had come to be known as a "dirty little sheet" to emerge from the cloud of disrespect and disrepute that hung over its earlier history."

Doubtless speaking "from the record" after six hopeless years' experience behind the "cloud of disrepute" which hung over the "early history" of Walter Luce's "Dirty Little Press."

It was an unfeeling editor who marveled that Mrs. Gunness should have buried all her victims in Gunness sacks.

A LA MODE

(Saturday Evening Post.)

Did you ever notice that the only trouble about good stories is that you don't think of them when they're most apropos? There's a reason, for which William James, the psychologist, has duly accounted, and which his brother, Henry James, the novelist, has duly exemplified.

But who can tell why it is that the very best stories are not only not recallable, but are actually not in existence at the time they ought to be. This one, for instance, should have been told ten years ago, when women rode bicycles, but, as a matter of fact, it was only fabricated in 1908, and its author is Herbert L. Bridgeman of the Peary Arctic club.

Mr. Bridgeman says that in those pre-historic times when maiden ladies wore bloomers and rode "bikes" one such so riding and decidedly so costumed was scudding along a country road near Wareham, Miss., for which town, indeed, she was seeking, when she drew up before an astonished farmer.

"My man," said she, 'is this the way to wareham?"

The farmer looked her over very carefully. Then he removed a straw from his mouth and answered:

"I dunno, miss. But you kin see for yourself that's the way I wear 'em."

3 LITTLE COPPERS will make a noise like 5c. Wednesday—Wait!

Try this for Constipation.

Constipation prevails in almost every family. Old and young suffer alike. The matron of a great New York hospital confidently states that the following has been used for years with the utmost success, treating thousands, old and young, for acute and chronic constipation: Compound Essence Cardiol, 1 ounce Aromatic Fluid Cascara, 1 ounce, Aromatic Syrup Rhubarb, 2 ounces.

Dose—One-half to one teaspoonful after each meal. Children less, according to age.

Get the ingredients at any well-stocked drugstore, mix them and find instant relief, and a permanent cure.

QUIPS AND CRANKS AND WANTON WILES

Consistent Gloom

The pessimist now looks about
Amid the spring time glow
And tilts his head and sighs "No doubt
We'll have another snow."

He listens to the robin's call
And says "Wherefore be gay?
The temperature is apt to fall
A heap before it's May."

The tiny buds upon the tree
To cheer him can't avail,
"Ha! ha!" cries he. "I plainly see
The fruit crop's going to fail."

And so he sings both day and night
His unrelenting song.
Things never seem to him quite right
Unless they're going wrong.

Example of Vanity.

Apropos of vanity, Secretary Root told about a politician who, the day before he was to make a certain speech, sent a forty-one page report of it to all the papers. On page 20 appeared this paragraph:

"But the hour grows late, and I must close." ("No, no! Go on! Go on!")—Indianapolis Star.

17-YEAR-OLD JOCKEY EARNS $20,000

NEW YORK, May 11. — Probably in the history of racing there has never been a jockey with such a brilliant future before him as Joe Notter, who is under contract to James R. Keene, for this year. A most desirable contract it is, too, for it means when the 1908 racing season is over that Joe will have close to $20,000 to his credit from this one stable alone. That is rather a tidy sum for a boy of his years, for he is not yet 17 years old.

For months he exercised horses for the fun of it, until one day Jack McGinnis saw in him the making of a jockey, and he signed a contract with him for five years. The first year he was to get nothing but his board and clothes. Under the excellent tutelage and management of McGinnis he devloped into one of the best jockeys of the decade. At the expiration of this contract he had over $30,00 to his credit.

Two years ago he invested $10,000 in a beautiful home for his father and mother at Greenfield, Long Island, and lived with them during his stay in New York.

SPOTLIGHTS

At the Lyric Theater

The Lyric theater continues to evince its popularity and the programs given are of increasing interest and excellence.

All the films that are shown are the newest subjects and are exclusively given at the Lyric. All kinds of pictures, embracing comic, pathetic, historic, mythical and actual views of the most famous places in the world are constantly being shown from week to week. One of the most fascinating films is the "dog circus," from the French Hippodrome which no child in town should miss seeing. Next Thursday will be shown another of those western romances which always meet with such favor, called "The Cowboy and the School Ma'am." It is one of the most thrilling pictures ever shown at the Lyric, love, adventure and exciting situations being faithfully enacted. This film is manufactured by the same firm that made "Monte Cristo," and is absolutely new, never having been run before. Mr. Milton Kerr, the baritone soloist, adds much to the interest of the program, singing three illustrated songs each evening.

German Company Tonight

Miss Hedwig Beringer can boast of being the only actress in America who has played in stock for over 30 years in the same city. She has been connected with the Milwaukee Pabst theater company since 1876. Miss Beringer will appear at the La Crosse theater tonight, in conection with the Milwaukee Theater company.

They Went to Church.

Attendance at church service is obligatory upon the part of soldiers at certain English posts, and amusing stories are told of the excuses that are sometimes resorted to in order to escape this requirement.

At one post where a number of recruits were temporarily stationed an old sergeant was ordered to ascertain to what religious sect each man belonged, and to see that he joined the party told of for that particular form of worship.

Some of the men had no liking for church and declared themselves to be atheists. But the sergeant was a Scotsman and a man of experience.

"Ah, weel," said he, "then ye hae no need to kapt holy the Sabbath, and the stables has na been claned oot lately." And he ordered them to clean out the stables. This occupied practically the whole day, and the men lost their usual Sunday afternoon's leave.

Next Sunday a broad smile crept over the face of the sergeant when he heard that the atheists had joined the Church of England.Tit-Bits.

A man with a large bundle of sporting papers went into a fried fish shop the other day, and asked how much he was to receive for them. "Nothin'," snapped the owner of the shop. "Yer can tike 'em away. I don't want the likes on 'em in this establishment." "Goin' to retire, Bill?" sneered the disappointed owner of the papers. "Retire be blowed!" snorted Bill. "It's a matter of business that's all. It don't pay me to wrap up fish in sportin' pipers. My customers reads 'em. "Well, an' what then? Are yer afraid they'll be backin' the tips?" "That's just what I ham afraid on," responded the purveyor. "They heats their bit o' fish, reads the tips, backs their fancy, an' drops their brass. Then they 'as ter starve for a week or two, an' my fish is left on my 'ands."—London Tit-Bits.

THE PAUPER OF PARK LANE

By William Le Queux

seemed to her something superhuman, something indescribably fearsome. His very gaze seemed to fascinate her, and yet at the same time she regarded him with distrust and horror. She was a fool, she told herself, ever to have listened to his appeal. She ought to have had sense enough to know that by bringing her there at that hour he had some sinister motive.

His motive was to wring from her

Suddenly he altered his tactics,

Suddenly he altered his tactics, and, drawing her chair forward again, said:

"Let us sit down and talk of something else. You look pale. May I offer you something?"

"No, thank you," she replied. It was true that his threatening words a few moments ago had upset her, therefore she was glad to be seated again. He evidently did not intend that she should leave yet.

Having reseated himself near his writing-table, he said:

"As I explained, I want you, if you will, to go on a journey for me. The car is awaiting you round in Deanery Street."

"A journey? Is it far?"

"That all depends—if you are prepared to render me this service," he replied.

"I am prepared to render you any service, Mr. Statham, that is within my power, and my conscience permits me," she said in a firm voice.

"Ah, now, that's better. We're beginning to be friends. When you know me, you will not accuse me of ungentlemanly conduct — especially towards a woman. But," he added with a laugh, "I'm a woman hater. I daresay you've heard that about me—eh?"

She smiled also.

"Well—yes. I've heard that you are not exactly a ladies' man. But surely you are not alone in the world in that!"

"If all men were like me, Miss Rolfe," he said, "there wouldn't be much work for the parsons in the matter of marrying."

"You've been unfortunate, perhaps, in your female acquaintances," she ventured to suggest. His manner towards her had altered, therefore she was again perfectly at her ease.

"Yes," he sighed. "You have guessed correctly—unfortunate."

And then a dead silence fell, and Marion, watching his face, saw that he was reflecting deeply.

Of a sudden, he looked straight into her face again, and said:

"You have a lover, Miss Rolfe—and you are happy. It not that so?"

The girl blushed deeply at this unexpected statement. How could the old man possibly know, unless some of the people at Cunnington's had carried tales to him. Perhaps Mr. Warner had told Mr. Cunnington, and he had spoken to the millionare!

"I see," he laughed, "that I've spoken the truth. Max Barclay loves you, doesn't he? He's a friend of your brother's. I know him, and allow me to congratulate you. He's a thoroughly good fellow, and would be better if he'd keep off hazardous speculation."

She did not reply. The old man's final sentence impressed her. Max's speculations were hazardous. This was news to her.

"You don't deny that you love young Barclay, do you?" the old man demanded.

She hesitated, her cheeks crimsoning.

"Well, why should I?" she asked. "He is very good to me—very good, indeed."

"That's right," he said approvingly. "If I did not think him an honest, upright fellow I should warn you against him. Girls in your dependent position, you know, are too frequently victims of men whom the world call gentlemen. You know that, don't you?"

"Yes," she answered in a low voice. She was impressed by solicitude on her behalf. In his eyes was a kindly glance, and she began to declare within herself that she had misjudged him.

"Well," he went on, "when it came to my knowledge that Max Barclay was paying court to you, and that you were seen together of an evening and on Sundays, it gave me great satisfaction. I owe a debt of gratitude to your poor father, Miss Rolfe, and I am endeavoring to repay it to his children. Therefore I admit to you now that more than once I wondered what kind of lover would be be yours. I anticipated annoyance, but, on the contrary, I have only the most complete satisfaction."

"I am sure, Mr. Statham, it is very kind of you to say this. And surely it is very generous of you to take an interest in Charlie and myself."

"It is not a matter of kindness, but a matter of duty," he said. "We were talking of Barclay. How did you meet him?"

"Charlie introduced him to me one Sunday afternoon in the Park."

"And he has promised you marriage? Tell me frankly."

She nodded, again blushing deeply.

"Then you have my very heartiest wishes for your future happiness," he declared with a pleasant smile. "Mind I am told the date, so that I can send you the usual teapot!"

Whereat they both laughed in chorus. The old man could be charming when he wished.

"Oh! we shan't be married for a long time yet, I suppose!" Marion exclaimed. "Max talks of going with a shooting party up the Zambesi next spring. They'll be away a full year, I expect."

"And you'll be left all alone?" he said in a tone of surprise. "No, I don't think he'll do that. He ought not to leave you alone at Cunnington's."

"Oh, but he's going out to Turkey now—in a few days, I think. He has some financial business out there. Something which will bring him in a very big sum of money."

"Oh, what's its nature?" asked the old financier, instantly pricking up his ears.

"I believe it's a concession from the Sultan for the construction of a railway from some place on the Servian frontier, across Northern Albania, down to San Giovanni di Medua—if I pronounce the name aright—on the Adriatic."

"What!" cried Statham, starting up. "Are you quite certain of this?"

"Yes; why?" she asked, surprised at the sudden effect her words had produced upon him.

"Well—well, because this is a surprise to me, Miss Rolfe," he said. "Tell me the details, as far as you know them. Has he spoken to you about it?"

"Yes. He is hesitating to go, not wishing to leave me."

"Of course. Did I not tell you so a moment ago?" he remarked with a smile. "But are you aware that this concession, if the Sultan really gives it, is of the greatest importance to the commercial development of the Near East? There are big interests involved, and correspondingly big profits. Curious that I have not heard anything of the scheme lately! It's a dream that every Balkan statesman has had for the past fifteen years, the creating of an outlet for trade to the Adriatic; but the Sultan could never be induced to allow the line to run through his dominion. He is not too friendly with either Bulgaria or Servia. I thought I was being kept well informed of all the openings in Constantinople where British capital can be employed. Yet I haven't heard anything of this long discussed scheme for quite a year."

"Your informants believe, perhaps, that it would not interest you?"

FASHION HINTS

By MAY MANTON

5987 Tucked Waist with Pointed Yoke, 32 to 40 bust.

Waists of fine tucks and lace bring about by far the most attractive lingerie blouses that are to be seen and such a one as this can be made available for a great variety of materials. In the illustration lawn is trimmed with Valenciennes lace and combined with a yoke of embroidery, but dotted muslins, cross barred dimities and the like are being used this season and the blouses of this sort also are made from the washable silks while for the trimming either embroidery, Cluny or filet banding can be substituted for the Valenciennes, and the yoke could be of embroidered batiste, or lawn embroidered by hand or of heavy lace or of tucking or of anything similar that may suit the fancy. The lines are all exceedingly becoming to the figure, and with all its effect of smartness and elaboration the waist is quite simple and easy to make. The yoke either can be made from all-over material, or one of the ready made ones of lace or embroidery, which are offered at every turn, can be utilized if the maker is a bit clever and can adapt the shape to the design.

The blouse is made with the front and the backs and the yoke. It is tucked in groups and the trimming is applied between these groups, while the edge of the yoke is finished with narrow lace. The sleeves are of moderate fulness and are joined to straight cuffs and a collar finishes the neck.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 4½ yards 21 or 24, 3 yards 32 or 2 yards 44 inches wide with ½ yard of all-over lace for the yoke, 14 yards of insertion, 3½ yards of edging.

The pattern 5987 is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inch bust measure, and will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents. (If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage which insures more prompt delivery.)

CLASSES IN AMERICA.

(Portland Oregonian.)

So far as we are aware, this is the first time that the portentious phrase, "class consciousness," has ever been used in an American state paper, but we venture to predict that it is far from being the last. Some people have been in the habit of denying that there are any social classes in this country, but they are mere ostriches who think the danger is over when they have hidden their heads. We have classes and we have also an army of propagandists who are striving to excite hostility between them. Class consciousness is the first step toward class warfare. It arises from either of two things, both bad. Special privilege excites class consciousness in those who enjoy it. Special wrongs excite it in those who suffer from them. The latter species of class consciousness is the more bitter, but not the more deeply felt. Most European class distinctions are rooted both in privilege and wrong. Our own, up to the present, depend mostly upon special privileges, but wrongs are by no means lacking. Mr. Roosevelt reasons that if we do not desire class warfare in the United States we must abolish both the privileges and the wrongs which stir up hostility. Who has a better thesis to advance.

Where it Came In

The scene was a doctor's surgery, and a very parsimonious patient had just been prescribed for. The medico handed it to his patient, demanding half a crown therefor.

"Half a crown! Why, there isn't six-pennyworth of stuff in that bottle!" cried the man.

"No, I don't suppose there is but I tell you what I'll do. The next time you come to see me just pay the sixpence and help yourself from all these bottles you see around you."

"Ah! but I shouldn't know what to take."

"Of course not. And that's where the other two shillings come in."—Pick-Me-Up.

Passing it Around

Domestic—Please, ma'am, can you give me my character?

Mistress—Certainly, Bridget; but what do yant it for? You are surely not going to leave without giving me notice first?

Domestic—Oh, never fear, ma'am, I'm not thinking of leaving you; but my sister's going to service, and wants the loan of it!—Life.

CELEBRATE 15TH WEDDING ANNUAL

MR. AND MRS. EBERHARDT ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

MANY FROM OUT OF THE CITY

Social Event on North Side Proves Attractive Affair; Home Is Prettily Decorated

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Eberhardt, 1127 Caledonia street, entertained at a 7 o'clock dinner Saturday evening, the occasion being their fifteenth wedding anniversary.

The house was prettily decorated for the occasion. The dining room was decorated in green and the library in pink. There was a profusion of apple blossoms that added much to the general color scheme. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Tenewell of Tomah, Wis., Mrs. R. Tenewell and daughter of Tomah, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Tenewell and son Howard of Wausau, Mr. and Mrs. F. Eberhardt of Camp Douglas, and Mrs. Roce of Camp Douglas.

The other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Morley, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bullock, Dr. and Mrs. R. M. I. Kinnear, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Marvin, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Canan, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Partridge, Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. B. Rupp, Mr. and Mrs. W. Grimes, Mr. and Mrs. J. Grimes, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Shackley, Prof. and Mrs. H. G. Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Turnbull, Dr. and Mrs. George W. Lueck, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Doty.

The following young ladies assisted in serving: Miss E. Osterhout, Miss Anna Kinnear, Miss L. Shackley, Miss Irma Shackley, Miss Vernie McCann.

Blemishes, pimples, eruptions, rashes medicated by Satin skin cream soon disappear.

BUM SUPPLY IS DECREASING

A marked decrease has been noticed in the number of "bums" who have been housed at the North Side police stations. During the early part of the spring as many as 30 were taken in in one night, but since summer is about here and it is warm outside, they are taking to the hay. Last night at the No. 2 station only one was brought in.

"Well the numbers are decreasing," said Detective John Taylor," but being as it rained today and the ground pretty wet we ought to have a big bunch tonight." The numbers in the railroad yards are not as large as they were, the great majority having already followed Horace Greeley's advice to "go west."

MRS. OLSON DIES IN MINNEAPOLIS

Mrs. Carl Olson, a former resident of the north side, passed away in Minneapolis Friday after a lingering illness with tuberculosis. The deceased was 21 years of age and was formerly Miss Barbara Allen. Mr. Olson was employed in the Milwaukee roundhouse befire his removal to Minneapolis. The body will probably be brought to La Crosse for burial.

EXCITING RUNAWAY ON NORTH SIDE

Will Foster was participant in a lively runaway this morning, the horse running for several blocks before it was finally caught. No damage was done other than a broken harness. The animal ran 3 blocks down George street to Kane, where it turned into an alley and was caught.

A man need not be an as to act like one.

HANG ON
Coffee Topers as Bad as Others

"A friend of our family who lived with us a short time was a great coffee drinker and a continual sufferer with dyspepsia. He admitted that coffee disagreed with him, but you know how the coffee drinker will hold on to his coffee, even if he knows it causes dyspepsia.

"One day he said to me that Postum Food Coffee had been recommended and suggested that he would like very much to try it. I secured a package and made it strictly according to directions. He was delighted with the new beverage, as was every one of our family. He became very fond of it and in a short time his dyspepsia disappeared. He continued using the Postum and in about three months gained twelve pounds.

"My husband is a practising physician and regards Postum as most healthful of all beverages. He never drinks coffee, but is very fond of Postum. In fact, all of our family are, and we never think of drinking coffee any more." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

N. FREY LEAVES HERE FOR YEAR

WILL INSTALL COAL SAVERS ON THE BURLINGTON

MASTER MECHANIC INVENTOR

Scheme Meets With Favor of Officials and Experts and Inventor Will Supervise Installation

Although it has not been officially announced it transpired today that Master Mechanic Nathaniel Frey of the C. B. & Q. will leave his position in La Crosse, temporarily and will be gone for 10 months or a year.

The work of Mr. Frey is to give exhibitions and take up the work of installing a new coal saving system which will be put in on all divisions of the Burlington. The system was originated by Mr. Frey and has met with the approval of other experts on the subject and the road has decided on having it installed.

Who is to be selected to serve as master mechanic in the place of Mr. Frey is not known. Superintendent Cunningham is in Chicago today, and although local officals refused to state just what his business was it is presumed that to choose a successor to Mr. Frey is the real object of his trip.

NEW HOME OF THE AMERICAN REPUBLICS

parks which it will always be the care of the national government to render continually more beautiful in execution of its design to make the national capital an object of national pride and a source of that pleasure which comes to rich and poor alike from the education of taste.

The public spirit and enthusiasm for the good of humanity which have inspired an American citizen, Mr. Andrew Carnegie, in his administration of a great fortune, have led him to devote teh adequate and ample sum of three-quarters of a million dollars to the construction of the building.

Into the appropriate adornment and fitting of the edifice will go the contributions of every American republic already pledged and, in a great measure, already paid into the fund of the union.

The International union for which the building is erected is a voluntary association, the members of which are all the American nations from Cape Horn to the Great lakes. It had its origin in the first Pan-American conference held at Washington in 1889, and it has been developed and improved in efficiency under the resolutions of the succeeding conferences in Mexico and Brazil. Its primary object is to break down the barriers of mutual ignorance between the nations of America by collecting and making accessible, furnishing and spreading, information about every country among the people of every other country in the union, to facilitate and stimulate intercourse trade acquaintance, good understanding, fellowship, and sympathy. For this purpose it has established in Washington a bureau or office under the direction of a governing board composed of the official representatives in Washington of all the republics, and having a director and secretary, with a force of assistants and translators and clerks.

The bureau has established a rapidly increasing library of history, travel, description, statistics, and literature of the American nations. It publishes a monthly bulletin of current public events and existing conditions in all the united countries, which is circulated in every country. It carries on an enormous correspondence with every part of both continents, answering the questions of seekers for information about the laws, customs, conditions, opportunities, and personnel of the different countries; and it has become a medium of introduction and guidance for international intercourse.

The governing board is also a permanent committee charged with the duty of seeing that the resolutions of each Pan-American conference are carried out and that suitable preparation is made for the next succeeding conference.

The increasing work of the bureau has greatly outgrown the facilities of its cramped quarters on Pennsylvania avenue, and now at the close of its second decade and under the influence of the great movement of awakened sympathy between the American republics, the union stands upon the threshold of more ample opportunity for the prosecution of its beneficent activity.

Many noble and beautiful public buildings record the achievements and illustrate the impulses of modern civilization. Temples of religion, of patriotism, of learning, of art, of justice abound; but this structure will stand alone, the first of its kind—a temple dedicated to international friendship. It will be devoted to the diffusion of that international knowledge which dispels national prejudice and liberalizes national judgment. Here will be fostered the growth of that sympathy born of similarity in good impulses and noble purposes, which draws men of different faces and countries together into a community of nations, and counteracts the tendency of selfish instincts to array nations against each other as enemies. From this source shall spring mutual helpfulness between all the American republics, so that the best knowledge and experience and courage and hope of every republic shall lend moral power to sustain and strengthen every other in its struggle to work out its problems and to advance the standard of liberty and peace with justice within itself, and so that no people in all of these continents, however oppressed and discouraged, however impoverished and torn by disorder, shall fail to feel that they are not alone in the world, or shall fail to see that for them a better day may dawn, as for others the sun has already risen.

It is too much to expect that there will not be controversies between American nations to whose desire for mentharmony w now bear witness; but to every controversy will apply the truth that tehre are no international controversies so serious that they can not be settled peaceably if both parties really desire peaceable settlemnt, while there are few causes of dispute so trifling that they can not be made the occasion of war if either party really desires war. The matters in dispute between nations are nothing; the spirit which deals with them is eevrything.

The graceful courtesy of the twenty republics who have agreed upon the capital of the United States for the home of this International union, the deep appreciation of that courtesy shown by the American government and this representative American citizen, and the work to be done within the walls that are to rise on this site, can not fail to be powerful influences towards the creation of a spirit that will solve all disputed questions of the future and preserve the peace of the western world.

May the structure now begun stand for many generations to come as the visible evidence of mutual respect, esteem, appreciation, and kindly feeling between the peoples of all the republics; may pleasant memories of hospitality and friendship gather about it, and may all the Americas come to feel that for them this place is home, for it is theirs, the product of a common effort and the instrument of a comon purpose.

CITY NEWS

FEW TAXES UNPAID—La Crosse has a smaller unredeemed tax list this year than in 1906. In 1896 there were 215 descriptions of unredeemed property against 116 last year. This report shows that La Crosse people are not suffering from financial difficulty at least not so as to interfere with paying their taxes.

STOPS RUNAWAY — Samuel Hyde, Jr., was the hero of a lively runaway Saturday afternoon when he jumped from his machine on the State road and stopped a runaway horse belonging to a man named Koblitz.

GUARD PRAISED.—Gen. Charles King, who recently inspected the companies of the Wisconsin National guard is now preparing a report which is said to be a very favorable one indeed.

REV. MOLLER TALKS OF BIG CONGRESS

WILL LEAVE SOON FOR GREAT EPISCOPAL CONGRESS

MRS. MOLLER WITH HIM

Couple Leave for Old Country on 25th Inst.—Interesting Sermon on Topic

Rev. C. N. Moller of Christ church, accompanied by his wife, leaves La Crosse on the 25th inst. for a trip in England, sailing from New York a few days later, to represent the congregation at the church congress in London, and his sermon yesterday was devoted to a discussion of the significance of the great conference. In part he said:

God hath purposed in Himself that in the fulness of time He might gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in heaven and which are on earth, even in Him. Ephesians 1-9 & 10.

The Kingdom of God, the Church, was created at Pentecost to be the mighty agency to accomplish the purpose of God and St. Paul in the words of the text expresses the supreme motive for mankind, "the gathering together in one, all things in Christ."

In the Lord's prayer there is a gathering together in one word "Father," the revelation "that God hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on the face of the whole earth." God not only the Father of the spiritual nature but of the physical life of man. Fatherhood stands for love. Love does not divide—it unites, it draws the children of men together, it gathers into one, it is a bond of union in heaven and in earth. In the highest and truest sense Christianity is not a religion and therefore ought not to be compared with the non-Christian systems that men call religious. Jesus Christ established a kingdom and did not merely preach a philosophy concerning things spiritual or expound a theory concerning the mystery of life. He established the kingdom for gathering together in one all nations of men. It was not a spiritual, invisible kingdom and all those who believe the church to be such are the very centre of division and dissensions of Christendom. It was and is an outward and visible kingdom with a record in history, dominating all the records of the nations of the earth, with an influence more potent from age to age than the lives of all earthly monarchs.

Human nature is passionate and sinful and weak; it has resisted the Divine purpose of God to gather together in one, it has utterly despaired of its ultimate accomplishment in this world; there has been a tendency more or less pronounced among the followers of Christ to emphasize differences and exalt private preferences and opinions in sects and parties. There has thus been strife, bigotry, persecution and warfare writ large in the records of ecclesiastical history. There have been protests and antagonisms and competitions and rivalries and some Christians have seemed to love to have it so. But men and women who have lived the larger life, the life nearest the Gospel of Christ can read on every page of history the purpose of God steadily advancing; they can see that men and women of Christendom are becoming more and more truly conscious of the reality of the church in its outward and visible earthly state as the great factor in human progress and the realization of God's fatherhood and man's brotherhood.

It is the constant power of the love of God in His Kingdom that has opened the way for men to higher and nobler things; and thus we see in the life of the church today more clearly defined than ever before the Divine purpose of a Heavenly Father that is bringing the various races of men into closer sympathy, binding the ends of the earth together and making the members of Christ's Kingdom, in the best sense, citizens of the world with a world wide sympathy.

How God will finally gather together in one the apparently irreconcilable differences of race temperament and endowment passes human understanding, but we know that He is doing it and that the church is the ever stronger unifying influence.

In the spirit of this universal Kingdom of Love of our Heavenly Father there has gone forth into all the world the appeal of those who have organized the great Pan-Anglican congress. Bishops, clergy and laymen, including some of the foremost scholars and ecclesiastics of the world have been working for the past five years in preparation for this great event. There will be 249 dioceses, representing some thirty millions of communicants, that will send delegates to this mighty convention for the glory of the Kingdom of God.

Its great question will be, How can the Anglican church help in the glorious purpose of the Kingdom of Divine Love? How promote the gathering together in one all men in loyal obedience to the Eternal King? Its objects are therefore to give expression to the thought and desires and hopes of churchmen regarding the advancement of this visible, Divine Kingdom throughout the world, to take counsel as to the co-operation and co-ordination of its missions, the upbuilding of national churches, the unity of Christendom, the relation of the Anglican communion with other Christian communions, the promotion of the true Christly spirit in the dealings of man with man and race with race, the supply training and maintenance of the clergy in all lands, the duty of the church in relation with national sins and evils, the social, industrial, scientific, educational, ecclesiastical, domestic, linguistic problems of all kinds that the church has to face, in fact all subjects affecting the well being of Christendom and mankind so far as the Anglican communion can touch them. From England's distant colonies and mission fields, from the United States of America, from the cities and plains of the Indian empire, from the borders of the Arctic circle, and from the islands of the southern seas, "a mighty host will gather in one," in the great city of London, for prayer and counsel for the promotion of the primary purpose of God, for the glory of Christ and His Kingdom of Love for all men. The congress will begin with the Holy Communion at Westminster Abbey. Think of the great throng gathered from all parts of the earth in solemn communion with God and one another and all devoted to the one great purpose of God. The congress will be divided into seven sections and free literature has been furnished the delegates that they may be thoroughly prepared to enter into the deliberations of their selected subjects with the ability of specialists. Each evening in Albert Hall there will be a union meeting of all the delegates to consider the different subjects as a committee of the whole. Bishops, clergy and laity will all meet on a common ground. No domination from Canterbury or the authority of any one ecclesiastic will have authority or place any obligation on the church at large save the obligations that grow out of sympathy in a common purpose. The congress will close with a mighty service of thanks given in St. Paul's cathedral.

It ought to be a matter of thanksgiving to all the members of Christ church, La Crosse that one delegate will represent them as well as the diocese at, in some respects the greatest church congress or council in the history of Christianity. Surely if I may be pardoned for entering into matters personal, it is counted by me as the greatest privilege of my life, that through the generosity of some of my friends in this congregation I will be able to go to this great convention, and I assure you that by acknowledgement is all the more heartfelt because my good wife will share with me in the advantages of this great opportunity.

But the messsage I give you today is the message of this great gathering together in one of the representatives of this far-reaching Anglican communion. To glorify Christ is to make His glory known as widely as possible, to cast out of our hearts any narrow biggoted spirit of sectism or racial prejudice, to exalt our personal service in the great kingdom until our aim is nothing less than the purpose of God, to have the desire to help the work of the kingdom of Christ, to bless all men and to touch the hearts and minds of all sorts and conditions of people with the universal love of the Father.

O God, extend our sympathies, control our passions and our weaknesses, cast out of our hearts every trace of the self-righteous spirit and make us to know and feel more and more that our Episcopal church is nothing if it not in organic unity with the universal, visible kingdom of love that will express more and more the power of bringing the sons of men into the unity of the common life for one another in the unison of devotion to the "One Lord, the One Faith, the One Baptism, the One God and Father of us all."

PRE-NUPTIAL SHOWER FOR MISS KINNESON

At the First M. E. church parlors on Friday evening, after the business session and election of officers, a very pleasant surprise was perpetrated on Miss Catherine Kinneson, the retiring president of the Epworth league, by the members and friends. Miss Kinneson is to be a June bride, her marriage to the Rev. Charles Croxall of Lodi, Wis., to take place immediately after the close of school.

At the close of the session, the sliding doors into the parlor were raised, disclosing an artistic decoration of hearts, which festooned the room gracefully, an immense heart being suspended in the center. The strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march were sounded, Miss Helen Lavake at the piano, and the procession formed led by Miss Kinneson, the retiring president, and Mrs. Lavake, the newly elected president. Nearly 100 people were in line.

Apple blossoms were strewed in the path of the marchers, by Margaret Heyerdahl, daintily dressed in white, and carrying a large basket of the flowers on her arm.

As the possession reached the edge of the balcony, it halted and Miss Helen Vance sang "O, Promise Me," with excellent effect. At the close of the first verse, a set of solid silver knives in individual boxes were let down from the balcony, and graciously presented to Miss Kinneson by Mrs. Lavake. Miss Kinneson responded with a few well chosen words, and received the congratulations of the crowd. The evening was finished with a social hour.

Gentlemen:

Replying to your inquiry as to my experience with my Model "A" OLDSMOBILE purchased of you in July, 1907, I beg to say that I have been very much pleased with it. The motor has always run sweetly and has never given any trouble whatever. I have never removed a spark plug as there has been no trouble to demand it, not made any readjustments of any kind, except to take up the brakes.

I care for the car myself, except the cleaning, and have kept an account of the up-keep and running expenses and have been much pleased with the results shown in comparison with a former car of another make owned.

Yours truly,
LAWIS T. HILL.

Mr. Hill called upon us last Saturday and in speaking of his experience with his OLDSMOBILE expressed his satisfaction in the most convincing manner.

We will be pleased to arrange for a demonstration of the OLDSMOBILE Model M.

THE NEWSPAPER OF THE FUTURE, MAYBE

Paper makers are seriously agitating the publication of newspapers on black paper in white ink, as a solution of the print paper problem. Old newspapers canot be used in the manufacture of white print, because the ink cannot be extracted. But they could be used over and over again were black print paper to come into use. That would decrease the cost of print paper at least 33 per cent.

GERMAN M. E. CHURCH'S SUCCESS

The German Methodist church, corner Seventh and Ferry streets, had most inspiring services yesterday. The growth of the church has almost been phenomenal in the past few years. Yesterday morning thirty-six members united with the church, as follows: Mr. Wm. Pfaefflin, Mrs. Wm. Pfaefflin, Miss Elsie Pfaefflin, Mr. Josef Gmeiner, Mrs. Josef Gmeiner, Mr. Josef Gmeines, Jr., Mr. H. Helke, Mrs. H. Helke, Mrs. Lena Burghardt, Mer. Herman Burghardt, Mrs. John Duerwaechter, Mrs. Ana Isler, Mrs. Kath. Saxer, Miss Lucy Saxer, Miss Emma Saxer, Mrs. Phaebe Schilling, Mr. Otto Witt, Miss Alice Maurer, Miss Ella Henker, Mr. Kenneth Salzer, Mr. Elmer Thiel, Mr. Raymond Merman, Mr. Walter Forschler, Mr. Fred Schraeder, Mr. John Lauer, Miss Alma Young, Miss Viola Bott, Miss Meta Panzlau, Mr. Harold Panzlau, Miss Helena Zenker, Miss Mabel Schick, Mr. Charley Schlichemeyer, Mrs. Elizabeth Parchmann, Miss Edna Sorgel, Miss Jessie Schwanzle, Miss Edna Witt.

The Sunday school with an average over 200 every Sunday, and this at an early hour, 9:15 in the morning, and their teachers numbering from thirty to forty, every one progressive and enthusiastic, could easily be a model for many other Sunday schools. The Ladies' Aid society has been very helpful in upbuilding the local church. They gave several thousand dollars when the present church was built and have since paid fully as much for repairing the parsonage and benevolences and they voted last Thursday to contribute nine hundred dollars for the new pipe organ which will be installed in a few months.

All phases of church work are just vibrating with activity and the outlook was never more bright and hopeful.

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN THE CITY OF LIFE

HUNDREDS ANNUALLY ARE REJUVENATED THERE

WONDERFUL CURATIVE WATER

Simple Baths and Healthful Exercise Together With Good Diet Secret of Sanitarium's Success

Ponce de Leon did not find the fountain of youth in America—perhaps it was because he did not get so far as Prairie du Chien, Wis., for certainly if there was any reality behind the dream of the historic searcher it was found at the old Wisconsin city, rich in romance and seeming to breathe an earlier, healthier air.

In the prettiest spot in this old city is the Prairie du Chien sanitarium, known from one end of the country to the other as one of the best places to be found for the treatment of disease especially rheumatism. Scores of people go annually from La Crosse and surrounding vicinity to the sanitarium.

Most famous of the curative devices of this famous sanitarium is the celebrated Prairie du Chien water. Prof. Bode, the celebrated Milwaukee chemist, gave the following analysis of the water taken from the 994 foot well on the sanitarium grounds:

	Grams.
Bicarbonate of Lime	0.6222
Bicarbonate of Magnesia...	10.9738
Chloride of Sodium	90.2007
Chloride of Potassium	3.8064
Bromide of Sodium	0.1281
Sulphate of Lime	15.3699
Sulphate of Soda	12.7970
Bicarbonate of Iron	0.2318
Alumina	0.0610
Selicia	3.8430
Phosphate of Soda	Trace
Organic Matter	Trace
	138.6340

The Prairie du Chien sanitarium for the romantic person is the ideal place; for the historian, a place of interest, and, for the man of moderate means, a haven. It is a sanitarium and still a rest resort. None of the appearances of a hospital and wards greets the patient, neither do the nauseating odors of drugs stifle them; nothing but the refreshing air of rest is found.

The sanitarium is located on a portion of the site formerly occupied by Fort Crawford, in a beautiful park consisting of eleven acres of ground.

Everything is clean, wholesome, pure and simple. A homelike health resort where every advantage is given for recovery and recuperation from strain and trials of business and social life, as well as painful, soul-racking disease.

The sanitarium is only six hours' ride from Milwaukee, three hours from Madison, two hours from Dubuque and La Crosse, nine hours from Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis, three hours from Winona, ten hours from Mankato, six hours from Austin and nine hours from Des Moines, making it convenient to all of the largest railroad terminals.

Curative Waters.

Through its scientific equipments, its picturesque environments, and curative properties of its natural artesian waters, offers the best treatment existing for the treatment and cure of rheumatism, neurities, muscular and joint affections, stomach, bladder and kidney, and all varieties of physical and nervous exhaustion requiring true rest with return to right, rational licing.

Hydropathic Department.

This department is complete in every particular, comprising the most modern appliances for treatment with steam, hot air, electricity, bath and massage.

Baths.

There are two separate bath departments, one for ladies and the other for gentlemen. Each can take their bath and treatment any time during the day.

The Turkish bath rooms are the most complete of their kind in the west, embracing every point of comfort for patients.

Electric Apparatus.

The sanitarium is equipped with all modern appliances, viz.: Static, galvanic and faradic, which are used as adjuncts in the treatment of insomnia and all nervous diseases, as well as muscular and joint affections.

Special Staff.

Special lady and gentlemen masseurs are included in the staff under Dr. W. T. Pinkerton and Head Nurse Sara Laird. The staff of physicians includes specialists on nerve and joint disease.

The building is a modern two-story brick structure, 175 feet long, adjoining the grounds of St. Mary's Academy, steam heated and modern in every respect. The mineral waters are constantly flowing from the fountains on each floor and in both bath rooms. The temperature is kept even and our patients do not feel any change of atmospheric conditions whatever.

LA CROSSE HELPS OUT WINONA

The Winona city officials phoned to La Crosse this morning for a 6-inch "T," the water works system at that place having broken. According to the message received here the whole system will be crippled until the "T" arrives. It was sent immediately by the officals and arrived in Winona at 1 o'clock.

TYPHOID GETS 200

IN FIVE MINUTES BY THE WATCH THERE WILL BE NO INDIGESTION

DIAPEPSIN WILL PROMPTLY DIGEST 3000 GRAINS OF FOOD AND CURE A SOUR, UPSET STOMACH IN FIVE MINUTES.

If your meals don't tempt you, or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something for a sour stomach and Indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat go to the nourishment and strength of your body, so your blood will be rich and plentiful, you must rid your Stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nauseous breath, and stomach trouble of all kind; Putrefying the intestines and digestive canal, causing such misery as Biliousness, Constipation, Griping etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fiftty cents at any Pharmacy here and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking one Triangule that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure for your trouble is waiting at your Pharmicist any time you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will purify the sourest and most acid Stomach within five minutes, and will digest promptly and without any fuss or discomfort 3,000 grains of any kind of food you could eat. Ask your druggist to show you the formula plainly printed on the case, and notice that the Ingredients used are as harmless as candy and pleasant to the taste.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE A.E. BLEEKMAN

LAWYERS PAY TRIBUTE TO LEADER OF BAR

READ MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

Biographical Sketch Is Prepared and Many Members of Bar Association Deplore Friend's Death

Impressive memorial services were held in circuit court Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in memory of the late Attorney A. E. Bleekman, Sr. Nearly all of the local lawyers were present and many made short addresses on the career of the late member of the Bar association. A committee consisting of G. M. Woodward, Frank Winters and P. W. Mahoney prepared the following biographical sketch which was read and ordered placed on the minutes with a resolution of regret at his demise, after which court was ordered adjourned until Monday in respect to the deceased member:

"Hon. Adelbert E. Bleekman, whose death we meet to commemorate today, was born at Salisbury, Herkimer county, New York, March 26, 1846. The family name was Blackman but his father changed it to Bleekman. He was the son of Warren Bleekman and Emelia Jacobs Bleekman. The family lived at Stratford, Conn., before the revolutionary war and moved to New York and founded Stratford near Salisbury. His great-grandfather, Daniel Blackman, was a soldier all through the revolutionary war, and Ebenezer Blackman, his grandfather, served in the war of 1812 and was a noted frontiersman and Indian fighter in the early wars between the Indians and the settlers.

"Emelia Jacobs was also of revolutionary parentage. There were born to Warren Bleekman and Emelia Bleekman three boys, of whom Adelbert E. was the eldest. He worked on the farm and attended the district school until about 12 years of age, when, his mother having died, his father moved to the Connecticut reserve in Ohio and settled on a farm where the subject of this sketch continued to work on the farm and go to school.

"At the age of 17, he left the farm in company with the son of a neighbor and taking the train to Sidney, O., enlisted in Company A, Second Ohio cavalry. His regiment was assigned to the Army of the Potomac and was among the first troops to cross the Rapidan in the Richmond campaign of 1864. He served honorably in the various engagements of his regiment from the Wilderness to the surrender at Appomattox. After taking part in the grand review at Washington, he was mustered out and returned to Ohio, where his father was then dying with cancer. After settling up his father's affairs, seeking a new location, he settled in Little Falls, N. Y., for a year, after which he went to college at Belleville, Ont., Can., where he graduated. While at Belleville he married his first wife, Eliza Farnham, and soon after his marriage came to Tomah, Wis., where he had relatives. He taught two years at Tomah meanwhile studying law, and was admitted to the bar in Monroe county in September, 1870.

"By his first wife he had one child, William E. Bleekman, who now resides at Belleville, Ont. After the death of his first wife he married Alice W. Bush of Tomah, Wis., by whom he had one daughter, Katie, who died in infancy, Adelbert E. Bleekman, Jr., who is now practicing law at La Crosse as a member of this bar, and Ruth E. Bleekman, whose untimely death occurred in February of this year.

"Mr. Bleekman began the practice of law at Tomah, Wis., in July, 1871, first as a partner with Mr. Spaulding, and later with the Hon. George Graham. While at Tomah he was elected first to the assembly in 1872, where he served two years, and in 1874 was elected to the state senate. In 1877 he moved to Sparta and began the practice of law in partnership with Frank Bloomingdale. This firm of Bleekman & Bloomingdale had a large practice throughout this judicial district and west Wisconsin until their removal to La Crosse in July, 1886.

"While at Sparta Mr. Bleekman was elected district attorney and served in that capacity several years. At the time Mr. Bleekman lived at Sparta there were in the active practice of the law the firms of Morrow & Masters, Tyler & Dickinson (afterwards Dickinson & Graham) and David J. Jones, all strong men and able lawyers. During these years, Mr. Bleekman was associated in the trial of most of the important cases in Monroe county and many of the important cases in Vernon and Jackson counties, and became known as an able trial attorney throughout this whole section.

"In 1886, the firm of Bleekman, Tourtellotte & Bloomingdale was formed at La Crosse and entered into the active practice of the law here. In 1891 Mr. Tourtellotte retired from the firm and in 1892 the firm of Bleekman, Bloomingdale, Reid & Bergh was formed. This partnership lasted until 1894, when Mr. Reid retired and by the retirement of Mr. Bergh in 1900, the old firm of Bleekman & Bloomingdale again appeared on our court calendar. In 1903 Mr. Bloomingdale removed to California and Mr. Bleekman associated with him his son, A. E. Bleekman, Jr., which firm lasted until the death of Mr. Bleekman on January 27, 1908.

"As a lawyer Mr. Bleekman was earnest, ambitious and thorough. He prepared his cases carefully and tried them with the utmost energy and determination. He was partisan in the trial of law suits and made his clients' case his own. He was a hard man to beat and when beaten did not know it and sometimes finally won victory by sheer persistence and resourcefulness. If beaten he almost invariably appealed to the supreme court and during the years of his practice there was rarely a term of that court that did not find him at Madison and hardly a volume of the Wisconsin Reports that does not contain his name. He became a leader in the political battles of his county and congressional district, taking an active part as a working republican up to the time of his illness and death.

"He had more than usual literary ability and strove during his active life to keep in touch with the best literary work and abreast with scientific progress. While at Sparta and La Crosse he was an active member of literary clubs and a leader in them, and few public questions were debated without his participation in the discussion. Mr. Bleekman was an active member of the Grand Army, Odd Fellows and Masons. He lived and worked for his family with all the earnestness of his strong and ardent nature and won their respect and love as few men do. His untimely sickness and death removed a strong man from the practice of law in this circuit—a man as well known as a lawyer as anyone in it. He will be missed, and long missed as a citizen, and mourned by his family as few men are mourned."

The following resolutions were then read and adopted by the bar association:

"Whereas, A. E. Bleekman, a member of this bar, died January 27, after practicing for many years in this circuit,

"Be it resolved, That in the death of A. E. Bleekman the profession of law has lost a faithful, honest and capable follower, this bar one who was an ornament to it, and its members a true friend.

"Further resolved, That in his death this community has lost an intelligent, public-spirited and conscientious citizen.

"Further resolved, That the members of this bar extend to the wife and son of the deceased, doubly bereaved in his death and in the death of Ruth Bleekman, his daughter, their sincerest sympathy.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions together with the memorial prepared by this committee accompanying them, be entered upon the minutes of this court and a copy of the same sent to the members of the family.

LITTLE GIRL IS SHOT ACCIDENTALLY

DAUGHTER OF JOHN FLOOD IS INJURED AT GALESVILLE

BROTHER SHOOTING AT MARK

Maid Runs in Direction of Target and in Lowering Rifle it is Discharged

The little four-year-old daughter of Mr. John Flood of Galesville was yesterday accidentally shot by her twelve-year-old brother, who was shooting at a target with a .22 calibre rifle. It is not yet known whether or not the accident will prove fatal.

The boy was standing on the porch of the Flood home shooting at a target some distance away and the little girl was playing in the vicinity. Suddenly the little girl ran in the direction of the mark. The boy dropped the gun which was accidentally discharged, shooting the birl in the chest, the bullet passing below the shoulder blade.

The girl is still alive and the doctors in attendance entertain hopes for her recovery.

SOCIALISTS WAR JARS CONVENTION

ing the chair for "practicing gag rules." The result of the morning session was the adoption of the rules to govern future procedure. In effect they are similar to those of the last national convention.

Fight on Platform.

A contest which probably will last three or four days is expected to start today over the terms of the party's declaration of principles. The recommendations of the last international convention at Stuttgart are not accepted here as being best suited to this country, and an attempt will be made to modify some of them. This threatens trouble, as many of the western delegates want the Stuttgart proclamation adopted in its entirety.

Had No Chance.

When the delegation from the socialist labor party (the DeLeon faction) arrived here today to try to arrange for the amalgamation of the two organizations, they were at once coldly received, the general impression being that they have not sufficient strength to make it worth while consolidating. Delegates affiliated with the Industrial Workers of the World from Colorado, Idaho, Nevada and other western states were especially bitter against any amalgamation, claimng the socialist labor party has caused much damage to their organization in the states named.

Shows Party's Growth.

At the afternoon session the report of Morris Hilquit, international secretary, showing great gains by the party in Great Britain, France, Austria and Russia, was read. Discussing the Russian condition, the report says:

"The Russian revolution is not dead; our comrades elected over 90 deputies to the second duma and in Finland elected 80 out of a total of 200, among them nine women. The international movement has increased its strength in four years from six and a half million to ten millions. The movement now includes every country on the globe except Greece."

Hilquit showed that although the party lost 36 seats in the German parliament at the last election, it gained a quarter of a million votes.

HOWARD GUILTY OF BURGLARY

After being out 29 hours the jury returned a verdict of guilty at four o'clock Saturday afternoon in the case of James Howard who was on trial for the stealing of an overcoat from Earl McIntosh, a teacher on Phillips Ridge. According to the evidence he sold the coat in Trempealeau, receiving $2 for it. Howard has already served three terms in state's prison at Waupun and his record is a bad one. Up to ten o'clock Saturday morning the jury was unable to agree and stood ten to two for conviction but the court called them out and urged them to again retire and consider the case. At four o'clock Stturday afternoon the jury returned and rendered the verdict oof guilty.

The jury in the case of Charles Lowery entered a verdict of not guilty at 12 o'clock Saturday noon after being out only two hours.

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD

If Old Sores were due to outside influences, or if the cause was confined strictly to the diseased flesh around the ulcer, then external treatment and simple cleanliness would cure them. But the trouble is in the blood, which has become unhealthy and diseased, and keeps the sore open by continually discharging into it the impurities and poisons with which the circulation is filled. This poisonous condition of the blood may be the remains of some constitutional trouble; the effect of a long spell of sickness, or because the natural refuse of the body, which should pass off through the proper avenues, has been left in the system and absorbed into the blood. Again, the cause may be hereditary; but it does not matter how the poison becomes intrenched in the blood, the fact that the sore will not heal is evidence of a deep underlying cause. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may cause the place to scab over temporarily, but the blood is not made any purer by such treatment, and soon the old inflammation and discharge will return and the sore be as bad or worse than before. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, cleanses and purifies the blood, and makes a permanent cure. S. S. S. enriches and freshens the circulation so that instead of discharging unhealthy matter into the place, it carries rich, tissue-building, flesh-healing blood to the diseased parts and in every way assists in a natural cure of the sore. A LAZY LIVER

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over-work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver complaint," or torpid liver, by its wonderful control over the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system of poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

Symptoms. If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, bitter or sour "risings" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, or biliousness, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more permanently than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver, or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and strong.

Of Golden Seal root, which is one of the prominent ingredients of "Golden Medical Discovery," Dr. Roberts Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, says: "Very useful as a stomachic (stomach) tonic and in atonic dyspepsia. Cures gastric (stomach) catarrh and headaches accompanying same."

Dr. Grover Coe, of New York, says: "Hydrastis (Golden Seal root) exercises an especial influence over mucous surfaces. Upon the liver it acts with equal certainty and efficacy. As a cholagogue (liver invigorator) it has few equals." Dr. Coe also advises it for affections of the spleen and other abdominal viscera generally, and for scrofulous and glandular diseases, cutaneous eruptions, indigestion, debility, chronic diarrhea, constipation, also in several affections peculiar to women, and in all chronic derangements of the liver, also for chronic inflammation of bladder, for which Dr. Coe says "it is one of the most reliable agents of cure."

Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati, author of the AMERICAN DISPENSATORY, gives it a prominent place among medicinal agents, reiterates all the foregoing writers have said about it, as does also Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati. Dr. Scudder says: "It stimulates the digestive processes and increases the assimilation of food. By these means the blood is enriched. * * * * the consequent improvement on the glandular and nervous systems are natural results." Dr. Scudder further says, "in relation to its general effect upon the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic, useful in all debilitated states * * *."

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says of Golden Seal root: "It is a most superior remedy in catarrhal gastritis (inflammation of the stomach), chronic constipation, general debility, in convalescence from protracted fevers, in prostrating night-sweats. It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb." (This agent, Golden Seal root, is an important ingredient of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for woman's weaknesses, as well as of the "Golden Medical Discovery.") Dr. Ellingwood continues, "in all catarrhal conditions it is useful."

Much more, did space permit, could be quoted from prominent authorities as to the wonderful curative properties possessed by Golden Seal root.

We want to assure the reader that "Golden Medical Discovery" can be relied upon to do all that is claimed for Golden Seal root in the cure of all the various diseases as set forth in the above brief extracts, for its most prominent and important ingredient is Golden Seal root. This agent is, however, strongly reinforced, and its curative action greatly enhanced by the addition, in just the right proportion of Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot, Mandrake root and chemically pure glycerine. All of these are happily and harmoniously blended into a most perfect pharmaceutical compound, now favorably known throughout most of the civilized countries of the world. Bear in mind that each and every ingredient entering into the "Discovery" has received the endorsement of the leading medical men of our land, who extol each article named above in the highest terms. What other medicine put up for sale through druggists can show any such professional endorsement? For dyspepsia, liver troubles, all chronic catarrhal affections of whatever name or nature, lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, the "Discovery" can be relied upon as a sovereign remedy.

A little book of extracts treating of all the several ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines, being extracts from standard medical works, of the different schools of practice will be mailed free to any one asking (by postal card or letter), for the same, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and giving the writer's full post-office address plainly written.

"SHERBIE" BECKER OUT FOR GOVERNOR

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 11.—Sherburn M. Becker, former mayor of Milwaukee, is a candidate for the nomination for governor on the republican ticket. He has issued a formal announcement to the people of the state to that effect. In this statement he declares that he is not the candidate of any faction or interest but is the people's candidate on a party ticket, though in almost the same breath he voices his contempt for parties, explaining that he is not a fanatical party man. The hopes of those who anticipated a piece of "easy money" are blasted as he in language which can not be misunderstood, announces that not only will there be no "barrel," but he will expose all those who may be in possession of an asset in their political campaign.

WISCONSIN NEWS

SAVED FROM DEATH BY KIDNAPPING

DAUGHTER OF PETER GUNNESS CLAIMS PROPERTY

HIDDEN NEAR EDGERTON, WIS.

Her Uncle Was Suspicious and Spirited Her Away—Woman "Bluebeard" Would Have Killed

JANESVILLE, Wis., May 11.—Little Swanhilda Gunness, who is living at the home of Elias Simmenson in Albion Prairie, this county, appears to be the only one of the children of ePter Gunness who escaped the wholesale murder plot carried out by Belle Gunness at Laporte, Ind. Had she not been spirited away by relatives and brought to Janesville several years ago it seems certain that she would have suffered the same fate that befell her father, her little brother Philip and Mr. Gunness's two children by an earlier marriage. She first lived with her grandmother, but when the latter died a year ago she was taken to the Simmenson home.

Certain mysterious circumstances attending the death of his brother made Gust Gunness suspicious at the time, but he was unable to persuade the authorities to thoroughly investigate the affair. Fearing that the widow would not take good care of his dead brother's child, he practically kidnapped her and brought her to the Janesville home of his mother, Mrs. Peter Gunness, who lived on Western avenue. Mrs. Belle Gunness of Indiana objected to this course and it is said that close watch has been kept to keep the location of the child from this woman, as it was feared she would try to steal her again and take her back to Indiana.

It was after Mrs. Gunness's death that a second place of hiding was found on the Elias Simmenson farm near Edgerton. This child's mother was Sophia Murch, whom Peter Gunness married in Minneapolis in 1892. She died shortly afterward and then when her father married the Sorenson woman in Chicago, he took her with him to his new home in Indiana, where he soon met his death.

Relatives of Swanhilda Gunness who live in the city say the child is a very bright little girl and is much thought of by all who know her. Left an orphan by both her mother's and father's death she is cared for by relatives and friends of her father and is now 13 years of age.

It is firmly believed that but for timely kidnaping by her Uncle Gust and being brought to Janesville, her stepmother would have ultimately done away with her in order to cover up the last trace of any claimant to her father's property. Also she was coming to an age when she would have been able to have seen things which might have compromised the Gunness woman in following out her vocation of murderess.

Little Swanhilda never saw any of the mysterious happenings which are being disclosed on investigation of the Gunness property in Indiana. Her uncle, Gust, is expected from Minneapolis in a few days when steps will be taken to protect her interests in the division of Mrs. Gunness's property as it is well known that Peter Gunness had some money with which the farm in Indiana was purchased, which should now revert to his daughter.

MORE FIREMEN ARE ON THE CARPET

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 11.—Four more firemen were "on the carpet" before the board of fire and police commissioners at a special meeting in Chief Clancy's office Saturday afternoon.

Two were the captain and the member of his company whom he knocked down on the floor of the engine house after his subordinate had addressed insulting remarks to him.

The other two also had engaged in a fight in an engine house. Chief Clancy has not decided what punishment he will inflict.

The cases heard Saturday were the last of the cases of disorder in the engine house, which became so flagrant that an investigation was made. At a special meeting of the commission on Tuesday night one man was discharged for drunkenness and one for being absent from the station without permission.

Two were fined for drunkenness and two for engaging in a wrestling match in the engine house.

PIONEER DIES AT MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 11.—Surrounded by the members of his entire family, Charles Stolper, a pioneer settler of Milwaukee and one of the oldest residents of the north side, died at his home, 853 Second street, from a stroke of paralysis which he had suffered last Tuesday night while attempting to go to the house of his son-in-law, the Rev. C. G. Haehnel, next door. Mr. Stolper had been stricken previously, but for months past had improved greatly He was 76 years of age.

The man who gives a great deal of pity, is usually conspicuous for giving little else.

SHOOTS HIS WIFE AND HER BOARDER

VICTIMS OF KENOSHA MAN'S RAGE ARE DYING

CRIME OF MARTIN SCHLEYER

Was Jealous and Shot to Kill, Then Got Drunk and Surrendered to the Authorities

KENOSHA, Wis., May 11.—Kenosha had a tragedy when Martin Schleyer, 38 years old, employed in a bed factory, shot and it is thought fatally wounded his wife, Martha Schleyer, and Herman Koehler, a boarder at her home, who, it is said, had been paying her marked attentions.

Schleyer is in jail, for after a search countywide had been started by police officers he walked into the county jail and gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff Horace Chaffee.

Mrs. Schleyer is shot through the right thigh and abdomen, while Koehler has three ghastly wounds one through the right side which pierced the liver, another in the left side which broke a rib and pierced the lung, and a third in the wrist which broke all the bones of the wrist.

All of the shots were fired from close range and the bullet is believed to have passed through the body of Mrs. Schleyer.

Both May Die

Koehler is said to be dying, while the condition of Mrs. Schleyer is so grave that it is feared that she will not survive the night.

The tragedy, which caused the wildest excitement in Kenosha, was the outgrowth of liquor and jealousy. Six months ago Mrs. Schleyer, who is a woman with property valued at $15,000, secured a divorce from Schleyer who was then at Portland, Ore. He came to Kenosha two days later and demanded that the judgment be set aside, and the court took this action. Schleyer then put in an answer to the suit, but recently his attorneys announced to the court that an amicable settlement had been made and that the suit would not be pressed.

Last night Schleyer was about the city and it is said that he met his wife and Koehler on the street. It is said that the shooting had been carefully planned by Schleyer. He had packed his clothing at the hotel where he had been staying since his return from Portland, and had evidently planed to leave the city.

Schleyer concealed himself in a boarding house until after the men searching for him had gone out into the rural districts and then he went to the jail and gave himself up. He was in a beastly state of intoxication when he reached the jail, but as he entered the office two women were talking with Deputy Sheriff Chaffee and Schleyer sat down in a chair near the door and told the deputy that he would wait until he was through with them.

When the women went out Schleyer said, "I am the man that shot Mrs. Schleyer and that man," with this he fell over on the floor and was picked up and placed in a cell. He refused to make any statement later in the evening.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY Rose Terrill

It is an interesting thing to note that in all the talks and papers on the subject of books for the child, there seems to be no feeling of apprehension that the child may read too much. In this day of "reading made easy" when the works of the great masters of fiction are hacked down to fit baby minds, and shorn of the wonderful language that has made them worthy to live through the ages, they are reduced to a simple tale, the tendency is to train a child's mind so that it will be incapable of appreciating the best. Whether this perversion of the child's literary taste is not a great injustice to him is a question worthy of consideration.

In the days before the child became the axis on which our social system revolved, one that truly loved to read pored over the greatest books and stored up beautiful thoughts, couched in beautiful language. Sometimes days were spent over a single book that stirred the childish soul to its depths. Now the same book, in tabloid form is swallowed at a gulp, to be followed by another, and yet another, until it is small wonder that in the fit of indigestion that is the natural sequence, the overburdened, little mind retains nothing of value.

There are many excellent writers for the young of the present generation. The number of clean, whole some books to be found on the book shelves is amazing. What need, then, to lay vandal hands on the works of Scott? Of Dickens? Of Shakespeare? Or of a shining host of others. What is to be gained?

The story, robbed of the wonderful words of the writer is of little value. True the child will have a slight knowledge of the characters in the story, and the idea seems to prevail that he is thus taught to love the best literature. It seems an amazing fallacy, and one into which some of the ablest minds have fallen.

If your child has not a book shelf of his own get him one. A simple pine board on brackets will do. Perhaps he can make it himself, and that is so much the better. Let him stain it to some harmonious tint, and then select with care the books you place upon it. Give him the best. When they are his very own a sense of pride will help him to read them, but if they seem too hard at first give him some of your time and read with him. Explain just enough to make the points plain, but leave as much as possible to the imagination.

It will be but a short time till nothing but the best wil satisfy him, but —he will not read so rapidly, and the list of books he nas read will not grow so long as that of the boy who reads for the story alone. And that will be a distinct gain in actual value to the child.

A desk is a great help to a child if you wish to teach him to read properly. A simple pine table will do if you have no better. Let it be stained to match the book shelf, and then fit it up with blotter pad, pencils, ink and pens and paper. See that a box with a lid is fastened to the back for him to keep his little treasures, and respect his privacy. Place this little desk in a well lighted part of the room and see that the chair is the right light. Much harm is done to the small spines by wrong sitting, and a little neglect from lack of thought may result in great suffering for both your child and your self.

If the child is impatient and difficult to train to sit straight take time to look the matter up and tell him why it is injurious. Children are often called unreasonable when the one having them in charge will not take time to tell them why certain demands are made on them.

If your child goes to the public library for books it is your business to go there also. The librarian is doubtless better posted on the kind of books your child likes than you are. If your boy reads too much about Indians and not enough about the great country in which he lives, she can help you to select a better class of books.

If your small daughter has become fascinated with love stories that are unwholesome for one of her tender years, you will find many suggestions as to the best books to help her get into a better line of thought.

Above all keep close to your child. The mother who in looking forward to the day when the child will be old enough to take an interest in her affairs, loses sight of the fact that it is in her hands to keep always in touch by coming down to the child's level now and then, by entering into the spirit of all that is of interest to the child, today, form a bond that is never weakened.

And remember to do your guiding as unobtrusively as possible. Let it be a labor of love, and by putting your heart into your work you will get results. Last—ay, and first and greatest of all—don't nag.

When our New England grandmothers baked beans it was a two days' undertaking. The first day the beans were soaked and parboiled, the next day the baking was done and the beans were delicious. But there were some things grandmother missed that modern science includes.

HEINZ Baked Beans

Three kinds: With Tomato Sauce; Plain Pork and Beans (Boston Style); Vegetarian—without Pork, are baked on the same good old baking principles, but with vastly better materials and appliances, under improved conditions never dreamed of by grandmother.

The goodness of HEINZ Baked Beans begins months before they are baked. They are planted and grown for HEINZ, simply to get better beans than the market affords. They are soaked and parboiled, and finally baked and baked and baked—browned to tasty richness, leaving the oven to go piping hot into the HEINZ Improved Tin and sealed without the use of solder.

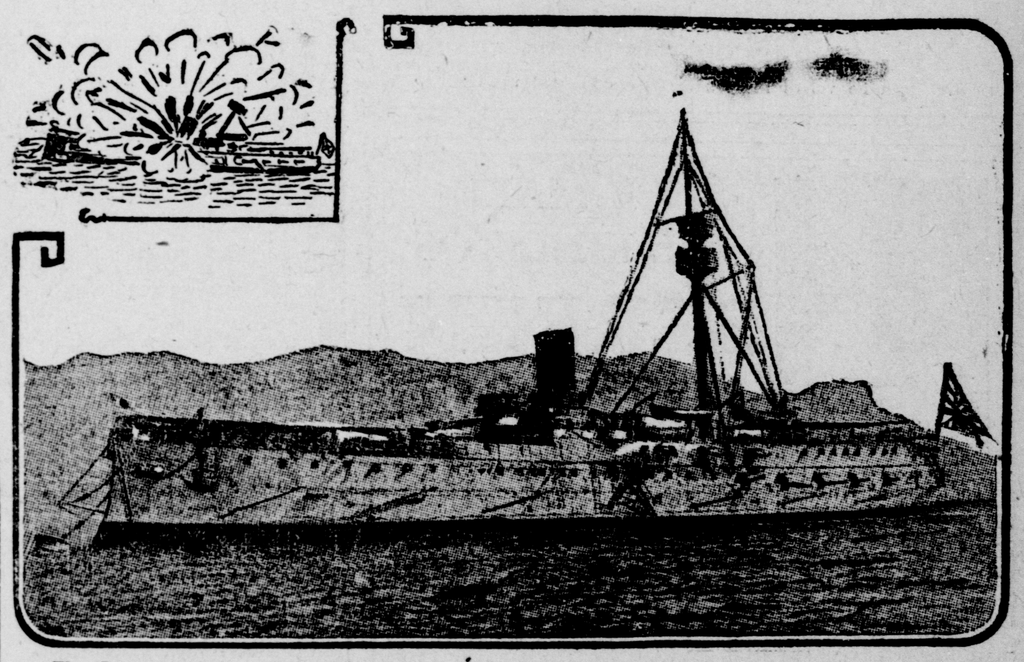

Open and eat them, hot or cold, and enjoy a "meaty," "beany" richness equal to any grandmother ever knew.

10c, 15c and 20c,—money returned if dissatisfied.

A SENSATIONAL HAT

The latest millinery sensation in Germany is the sailor straw hat with American fligs embroidered on the band. The use of this style by native German women in Berlin has excited dire complaint from naturalized newspapers. One journel has printed the following angry interrogation:

"What American or English woman would dream of buying in her own country a hat adorned with the German colors? Only German women would thus besmirch the national honor and the time has come to protest strongly against such thoughtlessness."

ASH'S PLAN FOR .. MAY 17 ABANDONED

Secretary Ash of the Y. M. C. A. who for some time has made preparations with Normanna Sangerkor, Prof. Peterson, the violinist, Mr. E. O. Forseth, the baritone, an orchestra, Attorney James Thompson and other speakers, for a program for the 17th of May celebration with the assistance of the local Norwegian pastors, has ben compelled to give up his idea at the present on account of the new arrangement of the local Norwegian pastors with Mrs. Dr. Gunderson to celebrate a children's 17th of May at Myrick park. It is hoped that Secretary Ash's plan will be realized at a future date, possibly Sunday, the 7th of June, which is Norway's new day of independence, teh day the Norwegians astonished the world by declaring themselves without a king and separated from Sweden.

LIVELY INTEREST IN STATE MEET

URBANA, Ill., May 11.—There will be some lively digging on Illinois field nevt Saturday morning in the sixteenth annual state interscholastic meet. The entry list sustains the record established last year—that of being the greatest high school meet in the U. S. A. Next Saturday 400 athletes, representing eighty-three schools, will toe the mark.

The pick and flower of the Sucker State must not only battle among themselves, but there are foreign invaders to be repelled. St. Louis Louis sends two teams—Central High, interscholastic champions of Missouri, and Manual Training High. From Benton Harbor, Mich., comes a sturdy aggregation. Last year twenty-nine schools won points, and the point table was a sad sight, showing Oak Park's eighteen points at the top and fractional points at the bottom. No change is expected this year.

Expert opinion is that Oak Park is a strong favorite on its showing last year, but that no one can tell where its points may be cut into.

TRI-STATE MEET WON BY QUINCY

KEOKUK, Iowa, May 11.—Quincy won the tristate field meet here Saturday, scoring 28 points. Biggsville and Fort Madison tied for second at 19, Springfield was third with 18, Rock Island 8, LaHarpe 4, Carthage 8. There was a record-breaking crowd in attendance, but the events were run so slowly that it was late in the evening before they were finished.

Heavily Armed—"Would you like to see the latest 'bayonet' collar?" asked the polite clerk in the big department store. "No, sonny," drawled Uncle Hezekiah, as he mopped his brow with a red handkerchief, "I've just bought a pair of gunmetal shoes and connonball suspendeds and I reckon they are warlike tnough for an old man like me."—Exchange.

The world is full of men who have things they want to sell for less than they paid for them.

CATCH FORGER WHO VIOLATED PAROLE

IS CAUGHT IN MARQUETTE AND WILL BE TAKEN BACK

HAS BAD RECORD FOR DEALS

Dennis Quinlan After Being Pardoned Starts Old Practice and Lands in "Jug"

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 11.—In charge of Deputy Warden Catlin of the Marquette prison there arrived here Saturday morning a man who has left a trail of forged paper behind him in half a dozen states. Bold and daring, and a penman of rare skill, his operations appear to have netted him many hundreds of dollars within the last few months. Catlin's prisoner was Dennis Quinlan, alias Dennis Morris, a paroled convict, once of Chicago, who has been badly wanted for more than a year past.

Quinlan violated his parole in March, 1907, when he suddenly left his employment as a newspaper solicitor in this city. Since then he had been heard from in a dozen different cities, but though the middle west states had been covered with descriptions and photographs of him, he managed to keep at large until last week. His apprehension occurred at Bremen, Ind., a town about 10 miles from Chicago, and was brought about by a former convict at the Marquette prison who tipped the officers off concerning his identity.

LOVER IS FOILED BY FATAL BOTTLE

FORT DODGE, Iowa, May 11.—While her lover, Henry Bruillette, searched unavailingly for her, Mrs. Alice Overman, aged nineteen years and a divorcee, drank laudanum in her room at the Duncombe hotel, throwing herself across a bed and dying thinking that Bruillette had not kept an appointment to meet her. Both she and Bruillette were from Sioux City. The man enlisted the help of the police in searching for the girl, but had not located her.

A note she left said:

"I commit this act because sweetheart threw me down. Telegraph my mother, Mrs. F. Freeman, Villisca, Iowa."

WAS "FIRED" SO SHE STARTS SUIT

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 11.—Because she says the school directors had no right to discharge her in the middle of the term for which she had contracted and without a trial for alleged misconduct, Miss Eunice Jones, young and pretty, is suing the directors of Douglass township for $80. The sum represents salary for the remainder of the term she did not teach.

After catching a car you feel foolish for having ran after it. It's the same with love after you catch up with it in marriage.

Every man should know how to swim; he never knows when he is going to find himself between the devil and the deep sea.

GETS MARRIED AND MUST "DANCE TO IT"

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 11.—Hasty marriages and speedy regrets find no consolation in district court here while Judge Hugh Brennan presides over the equity branch. F. C. Hammons, who after a month's acquaintance married a girl who worked near him in a laundry, wanted a divorce. He married her when but nineteen years old, by going to another county and getting a friend to swear he was of age. To this young man Judge Brennan said:

"You have made your bed; now lie upon it. The divorce is denied."

IS CRUSHED UNDER MANURE SPREADER

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., May 11.—As the result of falling from a manure spreader, Stewart Engstrom, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Engstrom, who reside on a farm in McCook county, lost his life. The little boy was riding with his brothers on the spreader and in some unaccountable manner lost his balance and fell to the ground. He fell directly under a rear wheel of the spreader, which passed over his abdomen and inflicted injuries from which he died a short time later.

A girl looks toward getting married the same as a boy looks towards is first smoke.

KETCHEL WINNER OF BLOODY BOUT

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Stanley Ketchel won a hard earned victory over Jack ("Twin") Sullivan in their fight at the Colma arena Saturday, the bigger "Twin" going down to defeat at the hands of the man who disposed of his brother so handily a short time ago.

The end came in the twentieth round when a left to the body put Sullivan away.

Sullivan furnished the surprise of the occasion. He came back strongly at various stages when Ketchel seemed to have him beaten, and the fashion in which he rocked Stanley's head with his left hooks, at times when he himself appeared to be staggering, aroused enthusiasm among his backers.

From the outset it was apparent that Sullivan was in the ring to put up a careful fight. He smothered Ketchel's blows repeatedly, confined himself almost entirely to countering and at one stage seemed to have the Grand Rapids man in trouble.

Cattle Strong but Sheep Are Weak and Hogs Decline in Chicago Markets Today

NEW YORK, May 11.—The new week started with a continuation of the upward movement that has been in progress since the announcement of the Pennsylvania loan. New York Central advanced 2⅞, later losing ¾; Ontario and Western advanced 2½ and Great Northern ore moved up two points. Talk was chiefly about short interest and it was asserted that the high opening in New York Central was part of a movement against the shorts. Government bonds were unchanged, others strong and active.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Cattle were strong today, but sheep were weak, and hogs lost 5c of last week's gains. Receipts in all lines were heavy. Cattle, 21,000; beeves, $6.30 to $7.30; stockers, $3.60 to $5.80.

Hogs, 46,000, light, $5.25 to $5.40; heavy, $5.45 to $5.65; pigs, $4.35 to $5.20.

Sheep, 20,000; natives, $4.50 to $6.10; lambs, $5.50 to $7.60.

Kansas City Livestock

KANSAS CITY, May 11.—Cattle, 9,000; strong; 10c higher; steers, $5.50 to $7; stockers, $3.75 to $5.50.

Hogs, 11,000; 5 to 10c lowrg; bulk, $5.40 to $5.50; pigs, $4 to $475.

Sheep, 10,000; steady; muttons, $5 to $5.65; lambs, $6 to 7.25.

Poultry, Dairy, etc.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Poultry, dressed turkeys, 12 to 22c; chickens 12 to 40c; ducks 8 to 16; live geese 7 to 8; ducks 11 to 13c; turkeys 11c butter, creamery, 24½c; eggs, nearby white 19, cheese, creams, 14¾c.

TODAY'S GRAIN GOSSIP

Today's Grain Opinions.

New York—Finley Barrell Co. say: There is still no evidence or indication that the market will weaken and the same causes which have been the underlying reasons for the advance in prices are still at work. Think stocks can still be bought on tips.

Logan Bryan: The advances have been rather sharp and conservatism should be exercised when purchases are made until the market has had a setback which would strengthen the position of list.

Crop Conditions.

St. Louis—Mr. Jordan tells he received a letter from Murfreesboro, Tenn., from banker saying wheat is rusted and damaged; farmers are much discouraged.

Chicago—McPherson, Kansas: Heavy rains yesterday; Hessian fly in evidence and some fields badly infested.

Budapest: Weakness in Budapest is on continued favorable weather in Hungary, which has caused free selling.

MARKET PERSONALS.

Joseph Stroech of Mormon Coulee marketed a fine cow in the city today.

William Horahan of Pine Creek brought in seven hogs which he sold to Langdon & Boyd.

John Geiwitz of Hokah sold seven live hogs in town this morning.

J. Fitch of Hokah was in with a load of hay today.

William Pappenfuss of North Ridge marketed eight hogs with local butchers.

John Walter of North Ridge sold seven hogs in the city today.

W. Rudsick of North Ridge sold seven hogs in town today.

William Goede brought in a load of hay Saturday afternoon from Mound Prairie. Mr. Goede reports the crops as doing fine and expects a good year.

Herman Schaldach of Chipmunk Coulee sold a large bull to Fritz, the butcher, this morning.

Anton Kruger of Mormon Coulee brought in a load of hay which he sold in the city.

GOES DRY; GETS RELIGION.

LAKE CRYSTAL, Minn., May 11—The "lid" is on here, the village voting out license at the recent election, and now the better element have secured the services of Evangelist C. C. Smith and will open up a series of revival meetings in a large tent erected in the city park. The Civic league is advocating the renting of one of the vacant saloon buildings for the purpose of conducting a reading and rest room.

CREAMERY BUTTER DROPS THREE CENTS

OPENING OF PASTEURS BRINGS DOWN THE PRICES

EGGS UP 20 CTS. A CRATE

No Other Changes Are Made in Prices Over Sunday; Weather Favorable to Crops

With but a small change in butter and eggs the local market remains unchanged. Creamedy butter has dropped three cents in price and eggs on track have increased twenty cents per crate. Farmers in the vicinity report crops in a flourishing condition and the last few nice days have given then an impetus.

THE PRAIRIE DU CHIEN SANITARIUM

"ON THE OLD FORT HILL"

COME
TO THE SPOT
BEAUTIFUL
THE FATHER OF WATERS.

THIS BEAUTIFUL HEALTH RESORT ONLY TWO HOURS RIDE FROM LA CROSSE.

COME TO AN IDEAL PLACE FOR THE SUFFERER
AND REST SEEKER.

THE GREAT YEAR-ROUND HEALTH RESORT

THIS SANITARIUM OFFERS THE BEST TREATMENT EXISTING FOR

RHEUMATISM, NEURITIS

AND ALL FORMS OF MUSCULAR AND JOINT AFFECTIONS

DISEASES of THE STOMACH, BLADDER and KIDNEYS, ALL VARIETIES of PHYSICAL and NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

Conveniently Located Prairie du Chien is easily reached from all points because of the splendid railroad facilities. The SANITARIUM is situated on a portion of the site formerly occupied by the famous historic Fort Crawford, situated in a beautiful park of eleven acres overlooking the great Mississippi river. For the romantic person it is the ideal place; for the historian a place of interest, and for the person of moderate means, a haven. None of the appearances of a hospital and wards greets the patients, neither do the nauseating odor of drugs stifle them; nothing but the refreshing air of rest is found. Everything is clean, wholesome, pure and simple. It's a home-like health resort where every advantage is given for recovery and recuperation from the strain and trials of business and social life, as well as the harrowing of painful and soul-racking disease.

Curative Water

The artesian well that furnishes the water for the sanitarium is the best known of its kind in the country. In this water nature has bestowed unparalleled advantages. For its healing powers and for those interested we give here with the analysis made by Professor Bode, the celebrated chemist of Milwaukee.

..DEPTH OF WELL 994 FEET. ..

Through the scientific equipments and curative powers of this water this sanitarium accomplishes wonderful results in cases of Rheumatism, Neuritis, and all forms of muscular and joint affections, also diseases of the Stomach, Bladder and Kidneys, all varieties of physical and nervous exhaustion.

The X-Ray Room

is another feature of the Sanitarium, being of the latest modern design for obtaining the best results and containing the latest modern machine.

Hydropathic Dept.

This department is complete in every particular, comprising the most modern appliances for treatment with steam, hot air, electricity, bath and massage.

Modern Baths

There are two separate bath departments, one for ladies and the other for gentlemen. Each can take their bath and treatment at any time during the day. Attendants are always present. A special staff of lady and gentlemen masseurs are under direct supervision of Dr. W. T. Pinkerton and head nurse.

The staff of physicians includes specialists on nerve and joint diseases.

Our Turkish Bath Rooms are the most complete of their kind in the west, embracing every point of comfort for our patients.

Electric Apparatus

The Sanitarium is equipped with all modern applances, viz.:
Static, Galvanic and Faradic, which are used as adjuncts in the treatment of Insomnia and all nervous diseases, as well as muscular and joint affections.

Moderate Terms

$20 TO $30 PER WEEK

Including board, private, room, nurse attendance, baths, electrical treatment and medicine.

The average patient does not pay more than $20.00 per week. Where a higher rate is charged, it is in cases where constant nurse attendance is required, or where better furnished rooms are desired. Whatever rate is named includes all charges. There are no "extra charges" of any kind.

We invite correspondence and will be glad to explain in detail and quote rates when we learn the length of stay contemplated and kind of accommodations desired.

To doubly convince you that you can save both financially and in worry we beg to call your attention to the cost of attending the sick in your own home.

First: The salary of a trained nurse is $25.00 per week and board, amounting in all between $30.00 and $40.00 per week.

Second: The physician's fee will amount to $2.00 per visit at the least, and at two visits per day for seven days would amount to $28.00.

Third: The cost of the medicine and nourishment for the patient must be considered.

Fourth: Baths at home will cost considerable, without figuring in the advantage of the country air and X-Ray treatment.

It is readily seen that it is almost ridiculous to attempt to compare the cost and the service of the Prairie du Chien Sanitarium with the home.

Correspondence

We would be pleased to hear from you telling us of what you are suffering and we will tell you if we can benefit you. If we cannot cure you we will let you know.
